WILL SAYS HUGHES CAN'T DO US HARM ON SUPREME COUCH

(Special To The News)
S. S. ILE DE FRANCE, Feb. 6.—The one person that I have missed on this trip home was C. H. S. E. Hughes.

On my last one no one on the boat will ever forget his cheerful good nature and the whole souled fellow that he showed himself. When we

WILL ROGERS landed everybody was in favor of giving him the same position in America that Mussolini enjoys in his country.
He is not so much in book learning but in his rough native way he will make us a good man on that Supreme Couch and he can't possibly do us any harm for Supreme Court decisions will always remain the same five against four. When its six to three that's called unanimous so good luck to you Charley.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Several fires have occurred this week in old graves, which were not properly walled up, allowing soil to accumulate therein, and which become intensely hot when the soil ignited. When old graves are abandoned, the cavity should be completely closed up and bricked in. Fire Chief Lynn warns. They are apt to be the most deadly firetraps, if these precautions are not taken.

Winter returned again today after a few days of springlike weather. The local streams ran over a foot with the rain and thawing temperatures. But little of the ice was carried off the streams.

Local auto club members will hear two fine addresses tomorrow evening when S. Edward Gables head of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation; and Capt. P. J. Dorr, head of the highway patrol speak here. They will have a message of interest for every motorist in the city.

Young Pa Newc stopped in at the Armory headquarters of Troop F last night and saw the boys go through an extra drill, or one of the preliminary workouts to the federal inspection on February 13. Doubtless there are many who know little of what actually transpires each night the troop gathers. A visit to the indoor drill hall some Friday night would prove real enjoyment as well as educational.

Talk of a new post office and new court house quieted slightly today as New Castle residents discussed the possibility of a new Pittsburgh and Lake Erie depot. Say, wouldn't it be a grand and glorious feelin' if soon we'd see construction workers busy on all three.

A revelation of the worthy place the City Rescue Mission occupies among the different institutions of the city lies in the summary of work done during January, published elsewhere in today's News. It shows that a real service was performed in behalf of those worthy of assistance.

Appointment by President Hoover of Charles E. Hughes as chief justice of the United States Supreme court seems to have been a popular move. It started Thomas Hartman, president of the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company to reminiscing last night, and he recalled that he had heard Hughes make the speech opening Taft's campaign for the presidency at Youngstown, O., also had

Friction Makes Appearance In Naval Session

British Aroused By Statement
France Champions "Humanizing" Submarine Warfare

IS FIRST SIGN OF DISCONTENT

Idea Originally Came From British-Americans Is Contention To Press

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service Staff

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The first tangible signs of friction between the various delegations to the Five-Power Naval Disarmament Conference here flared up in unexpected form today.

Meeting members of the press hall an hour later than usual, a spokesman for the British delegation manifested very evident annoyance over the alleged French attempt to claim credit for recent suggestions aimed at "humanizing" submarine warfare.

Anglo-American Idea
He declared emphatically that this idea was definitely of Anglo-American origin.

The spokesman's delay in meeting press representatives was believed to have been due to a conference with the British delegation to the conference with the aim of how best to rebut the alleged French claims to credit for the parley's present general attitude toward submarines.

He launched into the subject immediately, with quite evident traces of annoyance. He declared that at yesterday's meeting, the American and

Mercer Street Boy Hurt While Coasting

Found To Have Escaped Serious Injury—Other Slight
Accidents

A boy named Carey of 904 North Mercer street sustained a cut on the shoulder, but was otherwise uninjured, when on Wednesday, according to the report made to the police, while sled riding on North Mercer street, hit the left fender of the machine of William McKee.

The boy sustained a severe cut on the head and was removed by McKee to the Jameson Memorial hospital. Mr. McKee was just north of the intersection of Edison avenue on Mercer street, as a car bearing a Pennsylvania license and driven by Mr. Johnson, also going north, turned out to the left to make a right hand turn into a driveway.

As this occurred, the Carey boy came down the hill on his sled, and McKee, hoping to avoid him, pulled over to the right, but the boy on the sled ran into the left rear fender of the McKee car, sustaining a severe cut on the shoulder. Mr. McKee took the boy to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where on examination it was found that he had escaped serious injury.

Slight Accident.
J. H. Throop of 713 Blaine street was going north on Moravia street when he was struck by a car of Angelo Formica, driving the car of Angelo Formica south on Moravia street. They came together and some damage was done.

BURNING SOOT IS CAUSE OF ALARM

Soot burning in the chimney of the home of Adolph Valenise of 110 Center street at 9:15 this morning, resulted in an alarm being turned in from Box 51. Firemen arriving on the scene found that the burning soot had ignited a piece of wall paper which had been pasted over a chimney hole. No damage resulted.

Taft Somewhat Better Today

Doctors Do Not Hold Hope
For Complete Recovery,
But Critical Stage
Has Passed

EX-PRESIDENT IS RESTING COMFORTABLY

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—William Howard Taft appeared today to be responding to the mental relief of being back in his own home, and of being without the cares of official duty for the first time in many years.

It was in the hope the former president would rally from his present dangerous physical relapse that his doctors arbitrarily ordered him to resign as chief justice of the United States and brought him back to Washington from a three-week sojourn in Asheville, N. C. Their official bulletins in the last twenty-four hours seem to have justified their action, for according to those bulletins, he gained a little ground soon after being returned to his Wyoming avenue residence and his welling it ever since.

In any event, the original tension has lessened. The physicians do not hold out much hope for an ultimate complete recovery, for their 72-year-old patient is suffering from arteriosclerosis, complicated by a bladder infection, but the half-voiced fears of Tuesday that Taft was in the midst of a probably fatal crisis were less noticeable today.

ARMORY PROJECT BEING DISCUSSED

Coming here from Lewisburg for the preliminary inspection of Troop F, 103rd Cavalry, Pennsylvania National Guard, Major Samuel B. Wolf, squadron commander, and Capt. John W. Weeks, U. S. army, arrived in the city late yesterday and established temporary headquarters at the Troop F armory, Neshaunk avenue.

This afternoon Major Wolfe and Captain Weeks, with local officials of the guard, are making a thorough inspection of all troop property, including the stables and drill field located at Scotland Lane.

Last night 41 members of the local troop turned out for an extra drill and paraded in review before the two visiting officers at the indoor drill hall at the armory. Inspection was made of equipment, as well as of manner of drill, and following the inspection both officers expressed their satisfaction of the way in which the troop has progressed.

Major Wolfe, who last visited the troop on December 20, 1929, remarked in particular about the great improvement which has come about since that time. He said the drill

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The possibility of the United States Supreme Court reversing its attitude toward prohibition, while Charles Evans Hughes acts as Chief Justice, was clearly dispelled today by a study of the briefs he filed on upholding the constitutionality of the Eighteenth Amendment, in the famous "National Prohibition Cases."

Hughes joined with the attorneys general of a score of dry states in 1920 to fight a combined wet attack on prohibition, launched by six wet states. The new chief justice intervened in two of the seven cases as an "amicus curiae"—a friend of the court—opposing Rhode Island's outright attack on the Volstead Act. In both cases, as in five others decided at the same time, the Supreme Court followed the reasoning laid down in Hughes' briefs.

Hits At Referendum
One of the most interesting statements in Hughes' brief will deal a body blow to the hopes of wet for a

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—Pola Negri's jewels were seized today under a court order issued here upon the petition of Sam Rachmann, a motion picture agent and manager.

Rachmann claimed that the well-known film star owed him $75,000 for negotiating her American contracts for film appearances. The court allowed his claim and ordered the jewels confiscated in lieu of payment.

Pola and her husband, Prince Mdvan, departed for St. Moritz, minus the actress' jewels and apparently not minding going without them. The couple were recently reconciled after divorce proceedings had been started in Paris.

Quaker City Seeks Governor

Philadelphia Wants Governor
Nominee In Coming
Primary

IRE IS AROUSED BY COOLNESS TO BROWN

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—"Philadelphia is the Gibraltar of Republicanism in America, and more than once the Philadelphia vote has saved the candidates of the party."

Thus G. O. P. leaders of the Quaker City today expressed their determination that the city should not be passed up in the naming of the Keystone State's gubernatorial nominee at the Republican primary next May. Many of the hot-headed leaders even went further and voiced the declaration:

"Philadelphia will name the next governor of Pennsylvania."

The ire of Philadelphians seemingly was aroused over the cool reception given by other state leaders to their advocacy of the gubernatorial aspiration of Francis Shunk Brown, former state attorney general and chief aid of William S. Vare in his unsuccessful battle for a Senate seat. The Vire ward chiefs visited Washington a few days ago to see how Senator Joseph R. Grundy regarded the claims of Brown for the highest office of the state. Again yesterday three of the leaders, in the absence of Vare at his Florida winter home, talked with the state senator. Apparently they failed to receive the promise of aid that they wished, for last night another meeting was called of the Vire chiefs.

It was at this meeting that the warning was issued to the other factions of the state. Without mentioning the name of any prospective candidate in throwing down the gage of battle, the war board put themselves on record as firmly determined that Philadelphia must name the gubernatorial nominee of the Republican party in the next primary.

"We have told the state leaders that the party that Philadelphia is not to be ignored," Councilman Charles B. Hall explained, adding: "Philadelphia is the Gibraltar of Republicanism in America."

Mitchell Planning Entirely Revamped Enforcement Staff

On Assumption That Transfer
Bill Will Pass; Attorney
General Plans Shakeup

All Sections Of Nation Would Come Directly Under Eye
Of U. S. Attorneys

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—In planning the prohibition machine, on the assumption that enforcement will be transferred to the justice department, Attorney General Mitchell was understood to be considering an organization considerably different from the present treasury setup.

That justice department experts looked with favor upon prohibition district boundaries to coincide with those of judicial districts was thought likely.

Considerable Confusion.
This plan would place prohibition in all sections of the country directly under the eye of the United States attorney responsible for all law enforcement in the same territory. At the present time the dry districts do not conform to judicial districts, resulting in considerable confusion. Mitchell would cause an assistant U. S. attorney in each district to be placed in charge of prohibition, or could retain the administration system.

If the personnel of the treasury prohibition machine were transferred to the justice department the whole organization would remain under civil service.

No General Shakeup.
That would preclude any general shakeup of the force, since, officials and employees with civil service status cannot be removed except for cause.

In civil service examinations for prohibition appointment applicants who are habitual consumers of liquor, opposed to the Volstead Act or who had been guilty of violation of this law are disqualified.

This feature of the examination already has placed the prohibition bureau on about the same basis as the justice department. Mitchell notified all officials that those unsympathetic to the dry law or who used liquors had better obtain jobs elsewhere.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—A curtain of mystery continues to hide the whereabouts of Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins, expedition explorer, according to a copy-righted dispatch from the Antarctic in the New York American today.

The despatch, sent today by Victor Olsen, wireless operator on the steamship Melville, base vessel of the Wilkins expedition at Deception Island, said the eighth day had passed without word from the explorer, who with three others, is on the steamship Scoresby somewhere in the vast area of broken ice south of the party's base.

Efforts to signal the Wilkins boat by radio have failed and it was believed a break in the radio equipment of the Scoresby was possible. Hope was held the Scoresby would answer by radio as soon as repairs to its equipment were made.

Hit By Bullets From Gun Of Youthful Fanatic

(International News Service)
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6.—Quiet reigned here today following the attempted assassination of President Pascual Ortiz Rubio which almost turned his inaugural day into a day of dire tragedy for Mexico.

Suffering from a wound in the jaw inflicted by a shot from the revolver of a youthful Mexican fanatic named Daniel Flores, the President passed a comfortable night and was declared to be out of danger today.

Donna Josefina Ortiz De Rudin, wife of the president whose ear was nipped by another bullet of the would-be assassin when he whipped out a revolver and fired six shots in quick succession at the presidential car after the inaugural, was in a state of nervous collapse. The wound, however, was not serious. Senorita Maria Roch, niece of the President, who was shot in the neck, was resting more easily today. The other three who were struck by bullets from Flores' gun, Lieutenant Soutenes Garcia, military aide to the President, the chauffeur of the Presidential car and a bystander, suffered only minor injuries. All three were suffering from inconsequential flesh wounds.

Police Vigilance Redoubled
Police vigilance was redoubled today to guard against any outbreaks which might possibly follow yesterday's incident but there was no indication that martial law would be instituted.

Meanwhile every effort was made to ascertain what motivated Flores to commit his act. All night long he was subjected to a severe third degree by the police. Several hours after the attempted assassination seven suspects were arrested.

The police, however, have not stated definitely whether Flores' act was part of a conspiracy instigated by Communists or by followers of Jose Vasconcelos, defeated candidate at the last presidential election, who wished to produce governmental chaos and gain political control.

Some officials indicated they leaned toward the latter view, inasmuch as a plot to assassinate the president, his cabinet and former President Porfirio Gil, was recently uncovered and attributed to Vasconcelistas. Others

When you're nine or ten, or around sixteen, your birthdays come mighty slow, it seems to be years from one to the next, and the time seems barely to go. You wonder if you will ever get around to the day when you count twenty one, and you think of the day when the law calls you man, and anticipate plenty of fun. But the time gets around as the time always does, and gosh how the birthdays slip past, the clock that was torpid and lazy and slow, seems to suddenly start to run fast. The birthdays fly by on the wings of the wind, and you don't bother counting them much, and you think very little of neckties and socks, and birthday cigar trays and such. And I know that today, here's another one come, birthdays mean little to me, it's just one more milestone that's passed in the rush, the weather is cold, thirty three.

Over $60,000 To Be Expended Here

Public Utilities To Make Improvements During Spring And Summer

COMPANY HEADS CONFER WITH MAYOR

Mayor William Gillespie and colleagues today held a conference with superintendents of two public utilities and out of the session will come improvements this year which will cost approximately $60,000.

The superintendents who conferred with the city fathers were Louis Round, superintendent, P-O system and Howard B. Richards, superintendent, New Castle Water company.

Electrolysis, removal of poles and construction of a new conduit were the topics discussed. To eliminate the alleged electrolysis an expenditure on improvements will reach about $60,000, it was reported.

Last summer the downtown section of the P-O company property was improved but recently on the West Side, it is said that electrolysis was found and the public utilities heads conferred today, then met city leaders.

According to Round it is proposed to install new "feeder" cables on poles along West Washington street between the power company substation and Greenwood avenue and also in Greenwood avenue to Lowery street.

This improvement will be made with the hope of corralling stray current thereby going far to eliminate electrolysis. The discussions between Round, Richards and the city officials was very harmonious.

Mr. Round next suggested a proposal whereby the P-O company would remove poles in West Washington street between Front and Beaver streets and in Beaver, between South and Falls street.

The poles would be replaced by a new conduit.

According to Round, the cables to be installed as "feeders" will cost about $5,000 to $10,000 and the conduit construction would total approximately $50,000.

Council practically gave consent to the Pen-Ohio official for the improvement but the meeting was informal and enabling ordinances will be drafted by Solicitor Whites and acted on favorably by council in session.

Gil Continues Office. Former President Porfirio Gil, now minister of interior, described Flores, who is a native of San Luis Potosi and came here Sunday night, as a "young man of the middle class, fairly well-dressed and apparently about 23 or 24 years old."

The minister of the interior, expected to continue as administrative head of the government until President Ortiz Rubio's recovery, called the attempt upon the president's life a "heinous crime which reveals clearly the existence of morbid elements that stop at nothing no matter how dastardly, in order to bring the country to chaos and ruin."

The official version of the attempted assassination was set forth in a statement by Porfirio Gil follows:

"The president of the republic accompanied by his family was leaving the presidential palace shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to go to his home when an individual named Daniel Flores shot at his automobile wounding the chief magistrate, his wife, Senora Josefina Ortiz de Rubio, and his niece, Senora Maria Roch.

The president received a wound which fortunately is not a grave one. A bullet penetrated the president's jaw but was easily removed by physicians at the Red Cross hospital. He is out of danger. The wounds suffered by the president's wife and niece were not serious."

STAR LORE

A BLOW TO "WETS" AND "DRYS"

By Arthur D. Carpenter

Is there a "wet" or "dry" moon? Near the equator the sun goes down nearly at right angles with the horizon. The new moon follows in same path, so the crescent is directly on under side—"holds water." In northern latitudes the sun swings to the north as it goes down, so horns of new moon point upward and to left. In southern latitudes they point upward and to the right. Seen from polar regions, the Arctic crescent points directly to the left; the Antarctic crescent, directly to the right. All five new moons appear at once as "wet" and "dry" seen from different latitudes.

national referendum on prohibition. In his Kentucky case brief, Hughes declared such a referendum, not being provided for the Federal Constitution, would be only a plebiscite, that is, the expression of a popular choice, without any binding effect on Congress or prohibition.

"The submission to popular vote, so far as ratification of Federal Amendments is concerned, can be nothing more than the taking of a plebiscite," he said, in the Kentucky brief. "It is without constitutional warrant."

The two briefs were filed in the cases of state of Rhode Island vs. Palmer et al and in the Kentucky Distilleries and Warehouse company vs. Gregory et al. On the opposing side as "amicus curiae" were Elihu Root, Levi Mayer, William Marshall Bullitt and other wet attorneys. The states of Rhode Island, New Jersey, Mass., Kentucky, Wisconsin and Missouri were involved in the seven cases.

Arguments Presented

"The question whether the eighteenth amendment should be adopted was essentially a political question."

"The constitution is not a compact between the states; it proceeds directly from the people."

"It cannot be maintained, in the light of our constitutional history, that constitutional amendments are inhibited because they restrict the states in the exercise of their police powers."

"The authority conferred to the congress is in large measure of the sort which would fall into the province of the state sovereignty if there were no union."

"Nothing can be more germane to the defense of Irene and Glenn than the fact that they are the parents of a child."

At that time Dague said: "We know that we are in trouble. We are going to stand together. If she goes to the chair, I go with her."

Another conference of counsel was held Wednesday afternoon concerning the case, but like previous conferences no statement was made following it.

The method of procedure, the type of defense and what witnesses will be called probably occupied the time.

As the days pass, Dague is said to be turning more and more to the solace of the Bible. He takes part in the religious services in the jail, writes notes to Irene quoting scripture, and has little to say in his cell.

CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE UNITED STATES

TO BE Chief Justice of the United States is the highest position open to a member of the legal profession. The authority is as great as the prestige.

The tribunal over which he presides is the final interpreter of the law of the land, and its decisions are irrevocable. It has thus been one of the most potent influences in the history of the nation—in some respects the most potent.

Mr. Taft, whom ill health now compels to resign, has worthily upheld the great traditions of the office. He is the only man who has been both president and chief justice; and it is no secret that his second high place was the real goal of his ambition. He made a good president, though the stars fought in their courses against him, and he went down to defeat after his single term. But his temper was always essentially judicial. The close of his public career leaves him with the respect and affection of the whole people. They will hope that his illness is less serious than it appears to be.

No better successor to Mr. Taft than Mr. Hughes could have been found. Here the president once more reveals his unusual capacity for nominating to office precisely the right man. Mr. Hughes has had a larger and a more illuminating experience than often falls to the lot of a public man. He is the one member of the court, with the exception of John Rutledge, to return to it after a resignation. Thus he comes to the post of chief justice fully equipped by experience in the body over which he is now to preside. More than this, his executive abilities have been amply tested as secretary of state. He is by general consent one of the most distinguished holders of that office. He is, indeed, an international figure; he has been serving as justice in the world court, a post which will now have to be filled by another. The power of his intellect, the vigor of his language, both are beyond question. No man is better able to make the most intricate subject clear to the ordinary comprehension.

Mr. Hughes's sense of justice is equal to his learning. He is not one to be swayed by prejudice or emotion. All his life he has been considering grave matters calmly and dispassionately. He is eminently the man to follow Mr. Taft in an office of far-reaching authority and to take up with universal approval the great work which his distinguished predecessor has laid down.

AMERICAN

English "as she is spoke" in the United States seems at the moment to have the best chance to become the universal language. An artificial universal language is impracticable, but that the world may some day speak a common language is not improbable.

The language of the United States is now spoken in every country of the world, not only by Americans but by the natives of those countries. Resident and touring Americans are planting the seeds of their language from pole to pole and from the Occident of the Orient. Hundreds of thousands of Americans visit foreign countries annually, leaving their mark on the spoken languages of visited lands.

Immigrants to the United States who return to their native lands after learning English are an important factor in teaching the world "American." From force of habit they will speak it and their countrymen are always eager to learn foreign words.

No matter where Americans roam on this great round earth they can find men to whom they can make their wants and thoughts known. The Grecian shepherd boy may be heard to call to the American traveler, "Hello, boy!" In London they are speaking American slang. Even in the Orient and in darkest Africa the words of the Americans are recognized and used.

But when the universal language comes it will be an accidental mixture of many languages, not an Esperanto, such as was devised by Dr. Zamenhof in 1887.

WHO WOULD GO BACK?

Americans can live on four hours labor a day, says Prof. Thomas N. Craver, of Harvard, if they live as they did 50 years ago. If they live up to present standards they must work eight or more hours a day.

That most people prefer the longer working day and the higher living standard is self-evident. Given the choice few would sacrifice their luxuries and modern mode of living for a shorter working day.

What would it mean to go back to the standard of living of a half century ago?

There were no telephones, automobiles, electric lights, trains and cars, no modern heating systems, more oil lamps than gas lights and many candles used for house illumination, no radios, cameras, phonographs and player pianos. Even the bicycle with chain drive was not introduced until 1884 and pneumatic tires were an innovation in 1890.

For the simpler life and fewer luxuries given it society of fifty years ago had to work twelve hours a day and often seven days a week. But the worker of that day, as of today, considered the reward worth the labor.

The mere fact that the working day is shorter and living standards higher should convince anyone that the lot of mankind is better today than five decades ago. The wage earner would rebel at living in the laborer's home of fifty years ago, and advocates of the four-hour working day would go back to the twelve-hour day before they would go back to living conditions of the 80's.

Being a self-starter is almost as important as being a self-stopper.

Nothing puzzles a bald-headed man more than how fast his whiskers can grow.

So live that you can go to the door without wondering if it is a bill collector.

Every man thinks he can cure a cold or raise a family until he gets one of his own.

It is easy for a girl to find a husband. Her difficult problem is finding a single man.

Living in the past or the future isn't much fun. Try the present. It is both of them combined.

The earth is patient and long-suffering and only at rare intervals makes an effort to shake us off.

"Daring" plays are doomed. Soon the bored public will demand something more naughty and it can't be done.

Mr. Taft And Mr. Hughes.

Alas, A Fallen Dove.

Women Spend 53 Billions.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Tuesday was Col. Lindbergh's twenty-eighth birthday, reminding us that early success is still possible, if you are able to say, as Napoleon said after crossing the Alps in winter, "I deserve credit only for not believing fools who said it could not be done."

Col. Lindbergh "cooked a batch of flapjacks" and went up in a glider, an airplane with no engine, paying little attention to the glider's physical condition apparently. One all-eron dropped off. Spectators thought Lindbergh would be killed. He came down safely.

The public will be much obliged if he will at least examine the wings of his gliders.

William Howard Taft resigns as chief justice of the United States, and for the time, retires to private life taking with him public appreciation of his fine qualities. He was a good judge and what is more important, a good man, one that has helped many, and never knowingly injured anybody. May good health return to him soon.

Charles Evans Hughes returns to the Supreme Court as chief justice, at President Hoover's request. In him the people have a brilliantly able man, worthy to take Mr. Taft's place.

And from Mr. Hughes' acceptance of the position you learn that honor and opportunity to be useful are more important than financial profit.

Mr. Hughes gives up a private law practice worth more than $500,000 a year for the small salary and great opportunity of the Supreme bench.

Doves played at the feet of Venus, fluttered about her head. Doves coo on the roof tree of the rustic bower. The dove appears in beautiful religious pictures, and in Chaucer "she sang ful loude and cleere."

"Dove" as a rhyme for "love" represents first aid to young poets. As you see the gentle creature, sad to say, appears as assistant to the boot-leger.

Capt. Benton, head of the Los Angeles sheriff's liquor squad, found on the beach an exhausted carrier pigeon, and tied to its leg, a message, obviously intended for some bootlegger—"Be ready to receive cargo at appointed place off Topanga at 2 a. m."

Chicago's Retail Advertising Institute is told that American women spend every year $53,000,000,000.

A million is a great deal. A thousand millions is a very great deal. Fifty-three thousand million, spent by the women in this country is an EXTRAORDINARY amount of money.

They spend it wisely, as a rule, because they know enough to read advertising carefully, realizing that he who invests millions in his good name, through advertising will do nothing to jeopardize that name.

Women are said to buy 41 per cent of all automobiles, and 96 per cent of drygoods. They really buy 96 per cent of automobiles also, because men buy what women want or admire.

Mr. Edward Cantor, who drops into literature as Mr. Wegg dropped into poetry, says "Four hundred and ninety-six people pay on incomes of $1,000,000 or over. There would be four hundred and ninety-seven if I had listened to my wife instead of my broker."

Many will smile a sad smile, reading that.

But in a few months, ninety per cent of the many, on slight encouragement, will resume gambling, listening to the dictates of fancy, rather than to common sense.

Mrs. Ruth Olsen, 27, died. A towel 26 inches long, 16 inches wide, left in her body after an operation caused death.

The nurse said she had failed to count the towels, and a jury exonerated the doctor.

Fortunately there are doctors that would not rely on any nurse to count towels, blankets, arm chairs or other things.

THE CARPENTER'S FEELINGS

He had not read what Shakespeare wrote.

No line of Milton could he quote: He worked with saw and plane, And edging boards, precise and true. He labored all the long day through His food and drink to gain.

But as I passed along today, "Isn't that swell?" I heard him say. And turned with him to see What curious sight had caught his eye.

"Them look like jewels from the sky, On every bush and tree.

"There something sort o' sweet an' fine About the way them branches shine In winter's coat of frost.

As if some master mind and hand Had figured out the scheme and planned Without regard to cost."

What if the speech be rough, uncouth?

There is no tyranny of truth, Words but men's thoughts reveal, And poetry may be the thing Which genius has power to sing And others power to feel.

The Way

OF THE

World

By GROVE PATTERSON

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

Irene Hansen, school teacher and lecturer on psychology, spent five years traveling around the world, working her way in all sorts of jobs. She was waitress, housemaid, picked up, wrote advertisements, taught in foreign schools, and did various other things. And she learned a great deal about people and the world in which they live. It would hardly be practical to advise every young woman to do what Miss Hansen did, but it is a rich experience.

If we could only spend some time working on the other man's job and sitting where the other man sits, we might in time become educated.

INSISTING ON RESPECTABILITY

Despite what seems to be a considerable let-down in morals and manners in the present age, there are many forces working always for the maintenance of a high level of behavior. The committee on admissions at a private school for girls near New York has voted to refuse admission to a girl for the reason that her parents are engaged in "improper business practices."

The forces of public opinion and the forces of good taste can still be mobilized and are still active.

POPULARITY OF MARRIAGE

There are not more unmarried women in the country in proportion to the population than there used to be. It only seems like more because they make more noise.

Fredrick Collins, writing in the Woman's Home Companion, reveals startling discoveries. Marriage is far from passing out or becoming unpopular in this country. There are more marriages today for every thousand of the population than there were twenty years ago. He finds that even Reno is becoming famous for weddings as well as for divorces.

The habit and tradition of centuries make a durable fabric.

BUSINESS HALL OF FAME

We should not build all our monuments to generals, presidents and poets. New York sets a good example by forming an organization of representatives of concerns that have been in business for more than a hundred years. The organization will promote a Business Hall of Fame to perpetuate the memory of the men who a century ago laid the foundation of New York's business prestige.

With all that may be said for art, literature and science, the fact remains that business is the great organizing force among men. The future of our civilization depends largely on business men and business methods.

The action of Mexico's suggests the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE "may have a fairly wide effect if it causes some others of the Latin American countries to administer a similar rebuke to Russia, attributing their communistic annoyances to her. As for the communists themselves, they probably would welcome the advertising."

It is just a question of how long Russia can afford to be viewed, whether justly or not, as an international meddler. The ST. LOUIS TIMES noting an absence of naval or other fighting equipment, concludes: "We resign ourselves to the indolent role of observers of a shadow boxing exhibition, which will be confined to impotent gestures. It can't be much of a show, and hardly will hold the boards of the first page for more than a passing moment."

A severe blow to the communist propaganda work which has gone on in the new world" is seen by the PLINT DAILY JOURNAL, which points out that "Mexico has been held by Moscow to be its principal base of operations in the new world," and that "economic and social conditions in Mexico have been such as to make that country an inviting field for propaganda." The BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE welcomes "the growing trend in Mexico toward stilling agitation and getting down to the business of improving conditions."

The NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE avers that "with domestic peace restored, a stable government established, and the latter's program of orderly development and progress under way, Mexico apparently found its soviet friends more troublesome than helpful."

"The Russian regime," says the MUSKEGON CHRONICLE, "will discover, much to its surprise and along with a lot of other revolutionaries of the day, that the old-fashioned moralities it affects to despise are founded on human experience and cannot be flouted as will without its bringing the flouter to grief."

Pointing out that England has demonstrated to the soviet government on its own account, the CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE states that "the communists have been making trouble in both countries," and adds: "The reply of the soviet to protests is pulled out of a pigeonhole. It's the Red devil, the Third Internationale, over which the soviet says it has no control. Its leaders, ideas and purposes are identical with the soviet leader."

Mr. Stalin "looks alike," he can't do anything about it, and that certainly is a tough break for both of them."

"The action interests Americans from two angles," according to the GENEVA DAILY TIMES. "It is reassuring about Mexico, which many people in this country recently believed to be in active sympathy with Russian communism. It indicates that the soviet crowd, in spite of protestations to the contrary, is still up to the same old tricks." The ASHEVILLE TIMES is content that "such events will confirm the majority of Americans in their opposition to the minority which favors Russian recognition. Before we enter into formal relations with the soviet," continues that paper, "we rightly demand of Russia proof that its government is responsible and that it does not foment agitation and constitute a danger in other lands."

"The Mexican government," explains the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, "has traced directly to Moscow the offensive demonstrations against Mexican legations in other countries. It scorns the absurd attempt of its Moscow regime, in view of its ruthless control of press, platform and all political activity in Russia, to pretend it is not responsible for the notorious Third Internationale propaganda inspired by the regime."

The policy of the present administrations in Washington as to soviet recognition is again vindicated."

"The Mexican government's assumption," says the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL, "means that the soviet government is not yet ready to conduct its relations with other nations on a plane that will inspire mutual confidence. Indeed within a week Foreign Secretary Henderson of the British government, with which the soviet government has recently re-established diplomatic relations, has found it necessary to warn the soviet embassy in London against resuming its propaganda efforts in Great Britain."

The soviet policy will certainly deny Russia's re-entry into the full fellowship of nations. The fact that the Moscow authorities adhere to it must make the American government more determined than ever to cling to the program of non-resumption of diplomatic relations."

"The Mexican government, unwilling longer to endure insolence or affected incomprehension of our methods, finds severance of diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia the inevitable choice. It is not likely to be embarrassed by its action."

The ALTOONA MIRROR suggests that "it is probable that Russia will pocket the insult, real or imaginary, and permit Mexico to live in peace. Should the charge of the Mexican authorities be founded upon fact, it would be a fair and reasonable rebuke to Russia, attributing their communistic annoyances to her. As for the communists themselves, they probably would welcome the advertising."

Mexican Break With Soviets Backed By American Opinion

Harmony With Attitude Of United States, and Check To Propaganda In Latin America Read Into Diplomatic Action.

While serious complications are not anticipated in connection with the Mexican action breaking relations with Russia, the effect of this move is believed to be a curtailment of Red propaganda in other Latin American countries. It is also observed that the business of improving conditions, severing of relations is in harmony with the attitude of the United States. "Other nations have tried to play with Moscow," remarks the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE, "and have found that the chocolate creams are always loaded with red pepper. There is nothing at all surprising about Mexico's inability to get along with the Bolsheviks. While Mexican envoys have been exchanging polite words with Mr. Stalin in Moscow, Stalin's friends have been whooping up communist disturbances in Mexico and egging on demonstrations against Mexican embassies and consulates in various parts of the world. That is because the key note of the Kremlin's policy. The one ambition of soviet statesmen is to throw monkey wrenches into the machinery."

Pointing out that England has demonstrated to the soviet government on its own account, the CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE states that "the communists have been making trouble in both countries," and adds: "The reply of the soviet to protests is pulled out of a pigeonhole. The ASHEVILLE TIMES is content that "such events will confirm the majority of Americans in their opposition to the minority which favors Russian recognition. Before we enter into formal relations with the soviet," continues that paper, "we rightly demand of Russia proof that its government is responsible and that it does not foment agitation and constitute a danger in other lands."

"The Mexican government," explains the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, "has traced directly to Moscow the offensive demonstrations against Mexican legations in other countries. It scorns the absurd attempt of its Moscow regime, in view of its ruthless control of press, platform and all political activity in Russia, to pretend it is not responsible for the notorious Third Internationale propaganda inspired by the regime."

The policy of the present administrations in Washington as to soviet recognition is again vindicated."

"The Mexican government's assumption," says the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL, "means that the soviet government is not yet ready to conduct its relations with other nations on a plane that will inspire mutual confidence. Indeed within a week Foreign Secretary Henderson of the British government, with which the soviet government has recently re-established diplomatic relations, has found it necessary to warn the soviet embassy in London against res

Purpose Of Girl Scout Organization Is Given

(Contributed.)

We hear Girl Scouting called a character-building organization, a leisure-time movement, a recreational educational program, even a spirit of mutual helpfulness, but though scouting answers to all of these, none really describes the inwardness of Girl Scouting, so aptly as "a game of elder with younger sisters."

For when we say game we think of fun of joy of adventure, and of a desired goal. And these are the things that are the core of scouting for girls.

None of us will wonder that meetings filled with song, dramatics, handicrafts, relay races, skipping and jumping and dancing, spell happiness for the girl scouts themselves. By which I mean the younger sisters, the ten-to-sixteen-year-old troop members. Nor will anyone question the wholesome-ness of this kind of fun, that has nothing in common with the old in her troop a set of high ideals girl scouting effectively effects. It is fun that depends on imagination rather than on things, that truly recreates rather than wreck-creates, because it calls forth the powers of the girl and enriches her inner resources. This kind of fun demands not material equipment or possessions of any description—it requires only a sense of humor, simplicity and willingness to observe decorum or the rules of the game, for fun is a social thing.

How I have wished that more elder sisters, the potential leaders, without whom the game is denied the younger ones, could know that in Girl Scout leadership lies civic duty fulfilled, responsibility to community met, opportunity grasped for social service on a high far-reaching plane.

Not all of us can bestow material things, yet which of us would prefer to be merely a Lady Beautiful when she could be a Fairy Godmother? And every Girl Scout leader can be just that. She has priceless gifts to shower at the waiving of her wand. She can wish upon every twelve-year-old in her troop a set of high ideals and the chance to practice them. She can give longly Mary Ann a patrol of seven other Girl Scouts to play with. She can take wistful little Ellen away from the roar of congested city life to the wonderland of trees and flowers and birds—away from the roofs of movies to the vaulted starry heavens. Nora can be converted from a selfish wild girl into the Girl Scout who makes real sacrifices for the story of her patrol. Alice who prisms and fuses can forget her finery and adopt a new set of standards in her trim little Girl Scout uniform. And Ethel, whose quick wit has tendencies to wound, can by wise sympathetic guidance grow up into the lovely girl whose laughter has no barb. Badge work can be entered upon and carried over into hobbies that make of increased vitality with which to carry on high responsibilities of womanhood. This leader of Girl Scouts has limitless opportunities for granting life's most precious largesses.

There are few American girls today who would refuse to have conferred upon them this magic wand of Girl Scout leadership if they understood how big a thing they could do with it for others. But there are none—absolutely none—who would refuse it if they knew that the service they render to their younger sisters acts as a boomerang, returning to them with rich rewards. For as I started out to say, Girl Scouting is a game, which adventure—the adventure of finding the good to develop in every girl; with happiness—the happiness of sheer wholesome fun; and with worthwhile prize—the realization of a good job done for others. It sometimes seems to me that the big winners in this game of Girl Scouting are the leaders of its troops.

the JOY of LIVING

Your joy may depend upon rich, red-blood-cells

A HEALTHY body is vigorous, strong and sound. It is man and woman's greatest asset. It demands that the red-blood-cells shall not be decreased in number.

The red-blood-cells are its workers—5,000,000 to the cubic millimeter. It is dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin.

You owe it to yourself and family to give S.S.S. a trial. It promotes healthy body building. It helps Nature build rich, red blood. For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. It is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and is easy to assimilate. Pleasant to take. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

Census Returns To Include Reports Of Local Businesses

Retailers, Wholesalers, And Manufacturers To Give Returns On Business

The Act of Congress providing for the Fifteenth and subsequent Censuses authorizes, for the first time in the history of the government of the United States, a Census of Distribution and Manufacturers.

In planning for this part of the Census W. M. Stuart, Director of the Bureau of the Census, has provided for reports to be made by every wholesaler, retailer and manufacturer, mine and quarry operator who was in business during any part of the calendar year 1929.

The retailers and wholesalers comprise any firm, person or corporation distributing goods and will take in everything from the largest mercantile establishment down to the smallest tradesman. And for the reason that every manufacturer has to sell his products the manufacturer also comes in the field of distribution.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 10
The term "net income" means gross income less the deductions allowed under the statute. Such deductions include business and professional expenses, pensions to employees, taxes, losses, interest paid, bad debts, depreciations, depletion, contributions, etc.

Having arrived at the net income, the next step is to deduct the personal exemption—$3,500 for married persons living together and heads of families, or $1,500 for a single person, plus the $400 credit for each dependent, etc. The normal tax is computed on the remainder at the rate of one-half of 1 per cent on the first $4,000, 2 per cent on the next $4,000, and 4 per cent on the balance. Failure to understand the distinction between deductions against gross income and credits against net income has resulted in numerous errors on the part of taxpayers.

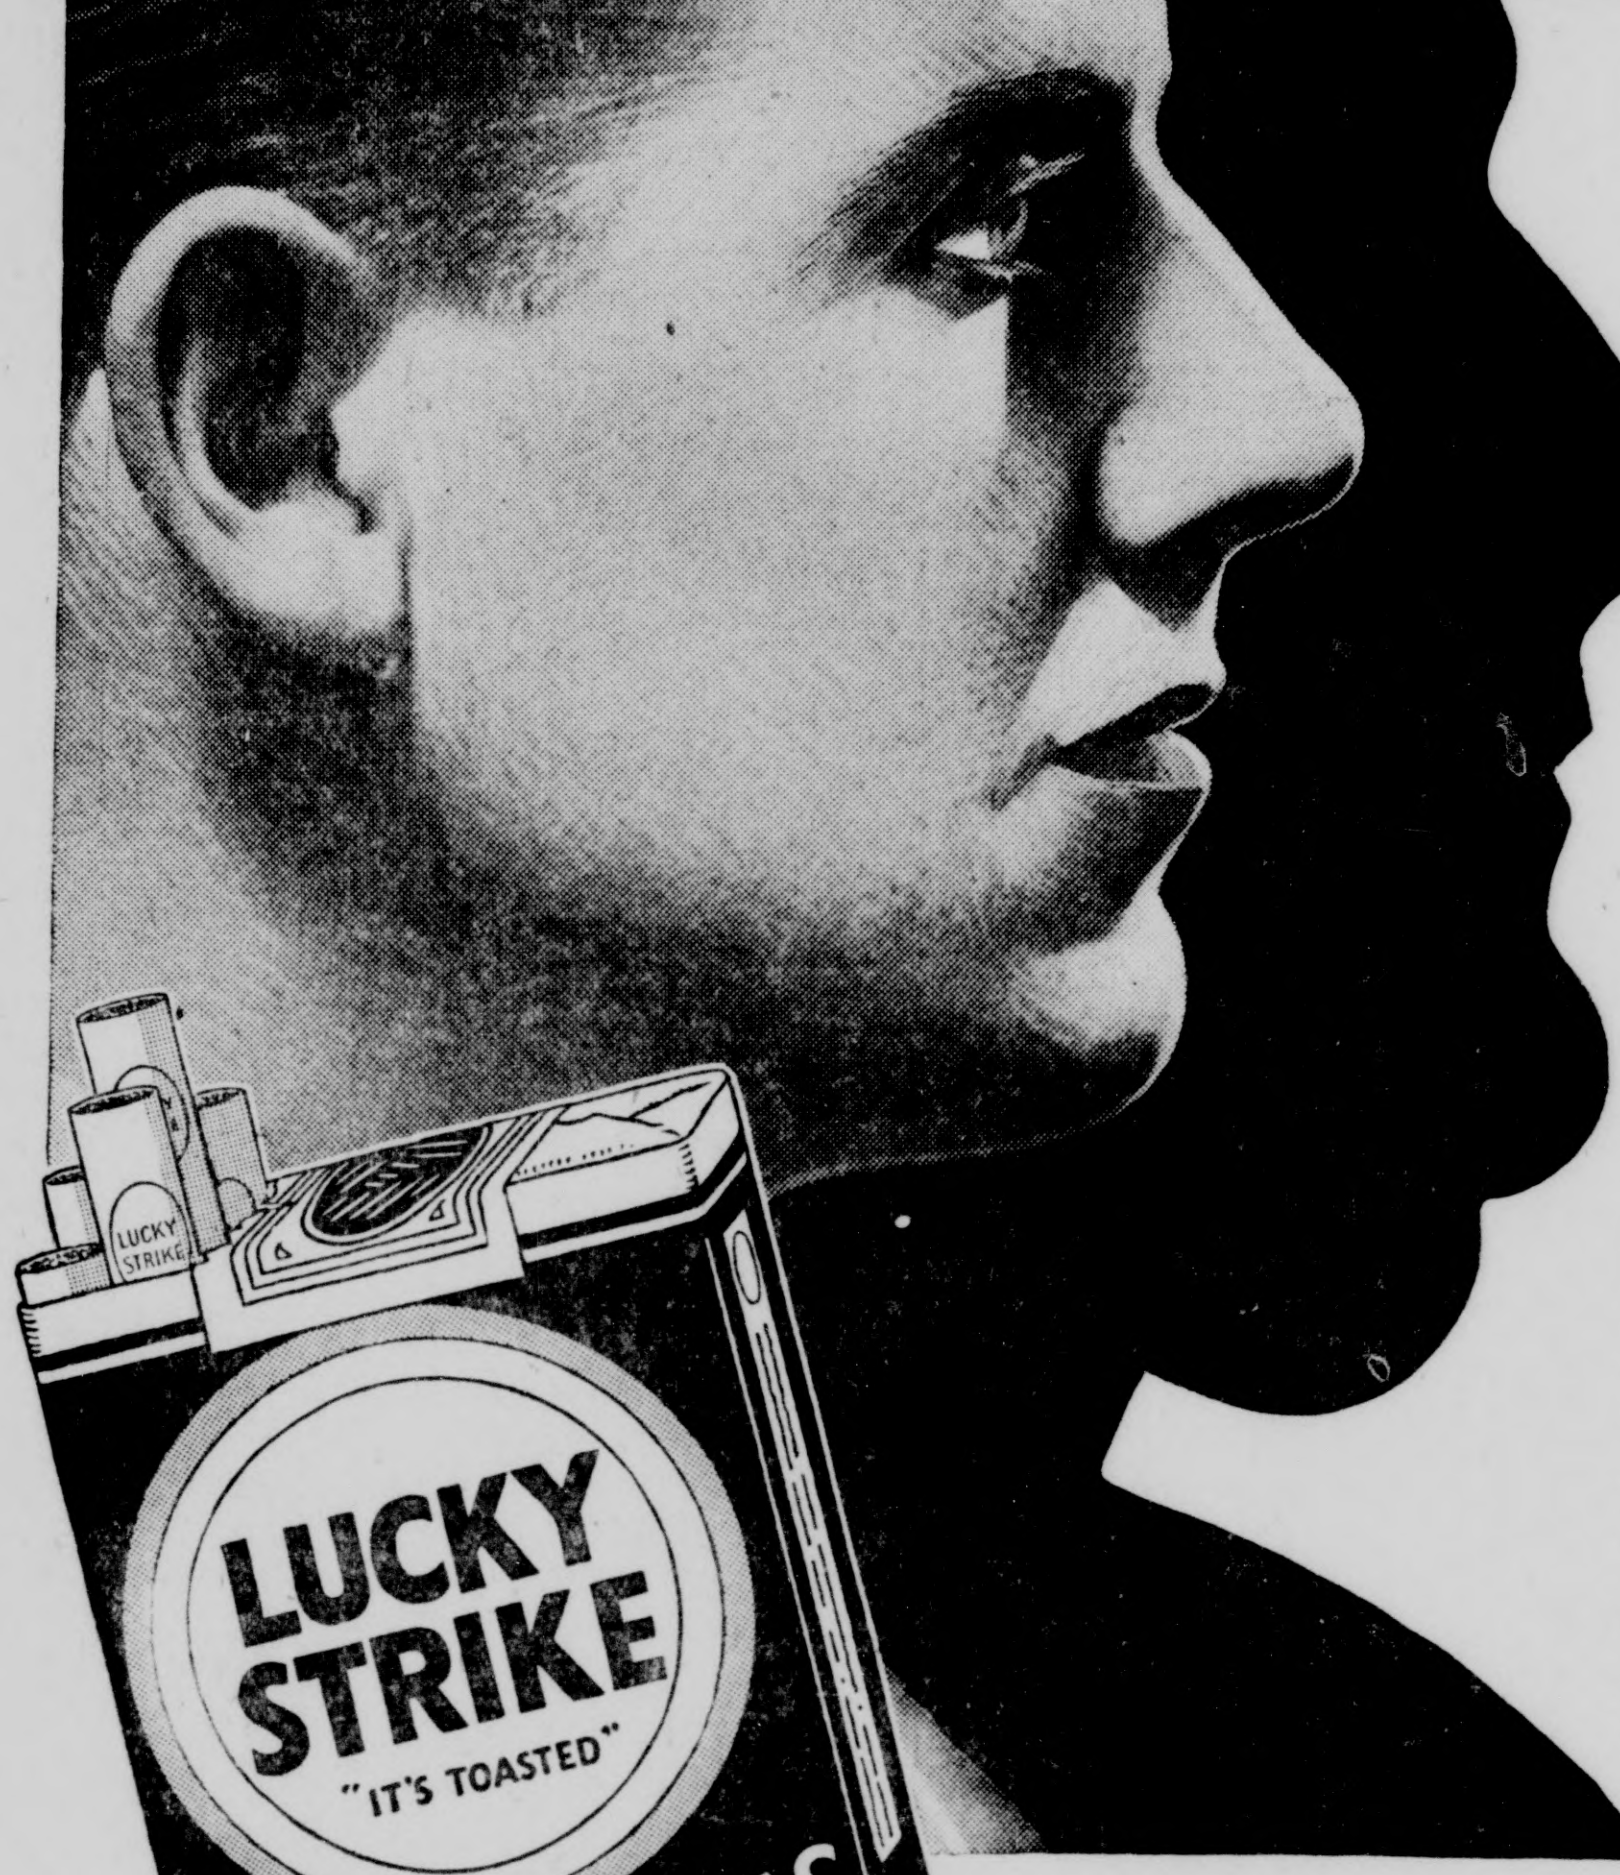

Business expenses form a large item in the return of many taxpayers. Typical business expenses of a mercantile establishment are amounts paid for advertising, hire of clerks and other employees, rent, light, heat, water, telephone, property insurance, and delivery expenses. The expenses of a manufacturing business include labor, raw materials, supplies, repairs, light and heat, power, selling cost, administration, and other similar charges.

A professional man, such as a lawyer, doctor, architect, dentist, etc., may deduct the cost of supplies used in his practice, expenses paid in the operation and repair of an automobile used in making professional calls, dues to professional societies, subscriptions to professional journals, office rent, cost of light, fuel, water, and telephone used in his office, and the hire of office assistants.

In South Carolina, This Week, Thirty-One Years Ago, Weather Was Below Zero, Says Local Man

South Carolina is generally pictured by northerners as being a land of sunshine, and the fact that it sometimes gets quite cold down there is surprising to many residents in this vicinity.

Regarding the recent article in The News, telling of the intense cold during the winter of 1893, when the thermometer dropped to 36 degrees below zero in some parts of Lawrence county, Charles M. Grace of Williams street, tells some interesting recollections of the February weather, 1893, in South Carolina, where he was stationed with a division of the Spanish-American soldiers.

The narrative in The News, reminds me of letters I received from Pennsylvania at that time showing that many of the public schools were closed and the children were sent home owing to the rooms being so cold; that the "DIASTATIC DEFICIENCY" (failure to digest starches), causes more than one-half the cases of stomach trouble. Because of this deficiency, potatoes, breads, macaroni, rice, breakfast cereals and other starchy foods remain in a semi-solid condition and refuse to move on as they should. This stoppage causes INDIGESTION, GAS, FERMENTATION, SOURNESS, SICK HEADACHE and other common troubles.

"TOO MUCH ACID" is the cause of almost all the remaining half of our stomach troubles. It also is the result of fermentation and excess digestive acids.

ACIDINE, the new discovery, is a perfect anti-acid combined with "Jantac," the most effective known starch digestant, one pound of which will digest more than 800 pounds of starchy foods. degree below. Believe me that is far too cold for comfort when dwelling in tents out in the open. The wild birds actually came into our tents by the hundreds for shelter.

At least a dozen birds came into my tent, through an opening in the wall and when they found they were being fed and not molested did not try to escape but kept up a continuous chatter. The freezing was hard on tea plants and other semi-tropical vegetation such as are found in the southland. Had we been ordered to move at that particular time, the tents would have been left standing as it would hardly have been possible to take down or fold them. The canvas and ropes were a glare of ice as stiff as a board.

I have heard that hereabouts many of the large trees would make a crackling sound just like they were splitting open and that when the weather became more mild so that the frost came out of the buildings the paper and plaster were as wet as if soaked in water. That certainly was a severe winter. I have been told by a relative who made a trip to Europe at that time, of how when out in mid ocean, he heard the deep siren notes coming from an approaching ship bound for New York and soon the Lusitania. I am quite sure that was the name of the vessel, passed with the smoke pouring from her funnels and the lights shining through the ice coating like a myriad of sparkling diamonds. The floating palace was covered with ice due to the heavy seas and was a beautiful sight to behold as it swept by at full speed like a phantom ship and was soon lost from view in the distance.

Advocate Revision Of Township Code

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 6.—Several speakers on Wednesday advocated a general revision of the township law code at a public hearing held by the commission which was authorized by the last legislature to study the need for such action.

The commission was told that the present code has been in effect for twelve years, that it is full of duplications and inconsistencies and that present conditions demand a general revision.

C. C. Albright, township engineer of the state highway department, suggested elimination of concrete highways from the township reward system. He also advocated that 20 feet be the maximum width for all township roads.

Agriculture In Pennsylvania Is On Up-Grade

President Hetzel Of Penn
State College Is Optimistic Over Future

SAYS FARM BOARD
MEMBERS SINCERE

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 6.—Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel, president of the Pennsylvania State College, expressed an optimistic outlook for agriculture in the State in an address to the Washington County Agricultural Extension Association here today.

"A reappraisal of our fortunes must force us to the conclusion that agriculture and rural life in Pennsylvania are, comparatively speaking, in better social and economic health than is true in most states of the Union," he said. "There is every reason to believe that the fortunes of agriculture in our Commonwealth will go constantly and irresistibly forward."

Washington County, the Penn State president said, was especially fortunate in its leaders, whose "wisdom and foresight were evidenced by the fact that this county was one of the first five counties in the State to establish county agent work." To this extension work he attributed the consistent advance of agriculture in Pennsylvania.

"The efforts of the National Farm Board," he explained after recounting his several meetings with the Board's members, "are sincere, and the policy, on the whole, a wise one that is sure to be helpful. But it cannot and will not revolutionize the fortunes of agriculture. To expect that is to look for the impossible."

"I believe that a sober and thorough study of the many agencies laboring in the interest of agriculture will show that there is no one which has contributed so consistently, so widely and so richly to the progress of American agriculture as the great Landgrant Colleges with their experimental stations and extension services. The greatest hopes for the further development of agriculture lie in the continued service of these institutions."

Appreciation of these fundamentals in Washington County, the College president said, was typified in the constructive council of Dr. R. L. Munce, who served for twelve years on the College Board of Trustees, and is continued by the equally helpful service of Mrs. Clara C. Phillips, the only woman member on the board.

Peter's Adventures

MRS. FLORENCE VINCENT

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

One against a regiment and not one of the regiment left! Lizard-Beetle had eaten every last aphid up!

"How cruel!" cried Peter, who would have stopped the mad slaughter of tiny insects if he had known: how. But Biffer and Uncle Merry Great Eye chuckled at the boy's horror.

"Lizard-Beetle isn't cruel at all, but kind!" cried Biffer, in his soldier cousin's defense. "Lizard-Beetle has done just the right thing. Let me tell you something, boys: If Lizard-Beetle had left those greedy insects where they were when first he spied them, in no time at all they would have sucked up the life juice of the grasses and then the sweet timothy grass that we insects love so well would have withered and died. And don't you think for a moment that those little big eaters would have been satisfied with that single stalk they were on when Lizard-Beetle attacked? No, a bit of it. When they had finished with that they would have crawled on to the next and the next. And everywhere they went they would have left ruin behind them. Listen, young Two-Legs! When all the red and white tops of the timothy grass were gone, we insects would miss them and mourn, but what of you Humans?"

Peter looked puzzled and Uncle Merry Great Eye took up the story.

"You Humans use grass for some purpose," said he. "Wait a minute. Let me think!" Uncle Great Eye scratched his head with a claw.

"Now I have it! Once when I was skulking beneath a berry bush on the edge of the meadow, watching Humans mow down the grass with a sharp knife, I overheard them call the yellow tops wheat, and the red tops fodder."

"And again I say Lizard-Beetle wasn't cruel, not even to the greedy ones. He pounced upon them before they guessed he was anywhere around, and gobbled them up—they never knew just what happened," added Biffer.

"Three cheers for Lizard-Beetle!" shrilled Uncle Merry Great Eye, throwing his cap in the air. Up went Biffer's hat, and Peter, who had changed his mind after learning

Scarlet Fever In Scott Township; Dismiss School

County Medical Director Quarantines Five Homes; Situation In Hand

Prevalence of scarlet fever in Scott township has prompted the closing of the McFarland school, Harlansburg road, and resulted in quarantines being placed on five homes and a close observation being placed on probably 10 others, it was announced at the office of County Medical Director, H. C. Harper, today.

Both Dr. Harper and the newly appointed health officer, George Montgomery, visited the district this week, and proceeded to quarantine the families concerned. He states that the situation is well taken care of at the present time.

Observation quarantines placed on several homes was necessitated when school classes were dismissed by the township board of school directors. Children not in school now must be closely watched and if sickness develops the county health officer must be notified immediately, it was announced by Dr. Harper today. Violation of this may result in heavy prosecution to the offender, he stated.

The British chemist warns wisely. Poison gas in the last war shared the honors with airplanes and submarines. In the next war it would make life in cities impossible, and fill the streets with thousands of dead bodies, the moment hostile planes began operations overhead.

CITIZENS APPRECIATE ATTITUDE OF MR. YOHE

Mayor Gillespie, councilmen and citizens generally today were decidedly optimistic over the outlook for a new railroad station here as the result of a conference Wednesday between city officials and C. M. Yohe, vice president of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

The mayor said that since publication of the vice president's attitude toward New Castle citizens had expressed appreciation for Mr. Yohe's declaration that he is willing to do anything he can to relieve the situation here and has a warm feeling for New Castle.

The vice president was brought here through a letter which was sent him by council and which was signed by the mayor, and also through the efforts of P. J. Flaherty, president of the city council, and C. M. Yohe, vice president of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

The mayor said that since publication of the vice president's attitude toward New Castle citizens had expressed appreciation for Mr. Yohe's declaration that he is willing to do anything he can to relieve the situation here and has a warm feeling for New Castle.

Auto Dealers To Complete Show Plans On Friday

Many Interesting Innovations Are Being Outlined By Committee For Exhibition

TO DISCUSS PROJECT AT NOON LUNCHEON

Final arrangements for the big automobile show which will be held in the Cathedral, February 27 and 28 and March 1, will be made Friday noon at the weekly luncheon to be held at the Elks club.

Many innovations have already been projected by the various committees, in keeping with the intention of making this the biggest show that has ever been held in the city.

Details of these plans will be made public after their approval at the meeting tomorrow.

Committees named last week by President McCoy have been hard at work arranging the preliminary details in connection with the coming show. Several visits were made to the larger auto shows of the country during the past week by members of the association, and some new ideas were procured which will be embodied in the exhibition to be staged the last of the month.

STOP SIGNS FOR BUTLER AVENUE

Should Be Erected At East Washington Street It Is Asserted

There has been some contention here of late for the placing of stop signs at Butler avenue and East Washington street, where traffic is heavy and street cars and motor vehicles often narrowly avert accidents.

Chief of Police C. C. Horner stated this morning that many people were under the impression that the placing of stop signs at the point was up to the city police department, but such is not the case. It is a responsibility and a duty of the State Highway Department, because of the fact that it involves improved roads under the supervision of the state. There are two state highways involved in this instance, which makes it all the more necessary that something should be done.

According to the chief, representatives of the state highway department promised to take care of this situation some time ago, but have not as yet done so.

Safety Record In School Zones Here

Children Being Protected By Effective Organization Of Police And Pupils

Organization in effect at the various schools of the city as a result of the co-operation of the police and school authorities in the past year or so, according to Captain J. Ed Elder, has resulted in the elimination of accidents at or near the schools, such as were a frequent occurrence a number of years ago.

As far as can be learned, there has not been a school child injured by an automobile in the vicinity of the schools in more than a year, showing the effect of the co-operation between the police and school authorities.

Police officers are detailed to see the children get across streets in the vicinity of the schools as far as is possible. But it is impossible for the force to furnish men for all the schools and where there are no police officers, the older boys of the school stand on guard and regulate traffic. They have proven very efficient.

With their red flags on long poles and other type warning apparatus, it only requires the careful attention of the motorist to prevent a serious accident.

Will Likely Parole Young Auto Thief

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 6.—If his parents consent to his being placed in the George Junior Republic School at Freeville, N. Y., John Milton Greaves, 16, of Perry, N. Charles Norman Shirley was sentenced to serve six months in the Erie county jail when he pleaded guilty of transporting a stolen automobile from Cleveland, O., to West Springfield, December 10, last.

RACE RELATIONS SUNDAY MESSAGE

February 9, 1930

(Contributed)
On this eighth annual observance of Race Relations Sunday, the churches should remind their members that the time calls for action; that Christian people everywhere should turn to specific and practical measures of service in their allegiance to Him who went about doing good.

First of all, every Christian organization should examine in the light of the teachings of the Gospel its own attitude as shown in its practice of helpful fellowship with different racial and national groups.

The time has come when all Christians, not just a few, must face the facts of the racial problems of our day. Our government has always been and still is slow to deal with problems of human interest until public opinion compels some action.

The church has been very slow to get beneath this problem which has its roots sunk deep in heartaches, stunting of character, and stultifying of race progress. The church has been very slow to build a demand, a public opinion demand, for equal racial opportunities and privileges.

Washington Correspondent New Castle News
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 6.—Orville Potter, Huey street, New Castle, World war veteran upon whom an operation was performed last week in the Walter Reed veterans hospital here, is recovering as nicely as may be expected, although he faces the unpleasant outlook of remaining flat on his back in bed for two weeks.

Both of Potter's legs were operated upon in an effort to relieve injuries sustained in the service, and both legs are now swathed in wrappings and braces. The New Castle man is confined to a patent bed in a position so that his limbs are higher than the rest of his body and he will be forced to retain that position for two weeks.

Just how long he will be required to remain at the hospital remains a matter of conjecture, although it is possible that he will be sufficiently improved to return to New Castle within the next month or six weeks.

Army surgeons are planning to use the operation performed upon Mr. Potter as an illustration of what can be accomplished through surgery. A number of prominent surgeons were present at the performance of the operation, and photographs were taken before, during and after the surgery.

Bo-Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—While the friends of The Drammer are merrily debating "What's the Matter With the Theater," 25 major Times Square theatres have been dispossessed, bag and baggage, actors and actresses, out of work, whose aggregate overdue bill for lodgings amount to half a million dollars.

BARBER SHOPS GO FANCY

The Master Barbers are getting delusions of grandeur. They think that hair cutting, shaving and touting their individuality. And the end came when women began to invade the sacred precincts and the Police Gazette got up and gave its place to The Ladies' Home Journal.

Another chip off the beggarly status of man.

Then they went white-tile and fancy introducing a lot of new fangled contraptions that completely destroy their individuality. And the end came when women began to invade the sacred precincts and the Police Gazette got up and gave its place to The Ladies' Home Journal.

Another chip off the beggarly status of man.

technical and scientific volumes at once trustworthy and readable. The average writer on scientific subjects doesn't pay enough attention to literary skill. He doesn't think it's important to write well. As a matter of fact, presentation is half the game; and there's no reason why a book on astronomy, anthropology or electricity, containing the last truthful word on the subject, shouldn't be so written that The Man in the Ford can understand it, as well as the writer's conferees in the laboratory.

It's next to impossible to get a highbrow writer to understand the importance of circulation. For example: One page of The Atlantic Monthly has more merit than an entire issue of The Saturday Evening Post. But The Atlantic is read, for the most part, by a minority of educated fossils while The Post is read the country over, from the kitchen to the drawing room.

Aloofness is excess baggage. Get rid of it.

The average man's vocabulary is limited to 3,000 words. Most educated persons know ten many words. That's why, as a rule, they are windy and tiresome in discourse. When they want to say something, instead of being direct about it and using a single simple expression that everyone will understand, they fuss around through their high-prized vocabulary, and when the thought is finally laid down, nobody knows what they're talking about.

Old Ben Franklin's rule was good. Said he: "The fondness of some writers for such words as carry with them an air of learning, renders them unintelligible to more than half their countrymen. If a man would have that his writings have an effect on the general reader, he had better imitate that gentleman who would use no word in his works that was not well understood by his cookmaid."

Auto Runs 59 Miles On Gallon Of Gas

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running, motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 999-3059 E. PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—Fear of another riot outbreak has resulted in iron discipline at the county prison at Holmesburg, it became known today, following reports the inmates are in an ugly mood.

Chapel service was cancelled last Sunday and other activities of the prisoners have been curtailed to prevent possibilities of an outbreak. The guards have been redoubled and ordered to maintain strict vigilance.

Overcrowding and food again are the cause of the dissatisfaction, it was said. The men also are stirred by reports of riots in other prisons of the country.

There are about 1400 crowded into the 700 cells in the jail. There is a dirt of employment for the men and E. J. Lafferty, president of the board of prison inspectors, attributed the spirit of unrest to this condition.

Friday evening, February 7 at eight o'clock, Mrs. Bert J. May of New York, daughter of the late Isaac M. Wise of Cincinnati, founder of Reform Judaism, will occupy the pulpit of Temple Israel, Moody and Highland avenues.

Mrs. May has the honor of being the third vice president of the National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods and is National Chairman of the Committee on Young People's Temple Leagues. She has an unusual charming personality and is a most impressive speaker.

She is vitally interested in the young generation and will bring a stimulating message to them and the community. Invitations have been extended to the students in nearby colleges. So that they can avail themselves of this opportunity to hear and become acquainted with Mrs. May.

The flowers to adorn the pulpit will

SAYS! TANLAC WITHOUT EQUAL FOR STOMACH AND LIVER TROUBLES

Nurse Gives Remarkable Endorsement

Tanlac may seem miraculous in its action to millions who ended stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as rheumatism, pains in the back, sides, joints and muscles from its use—but the truth is every drop of Tanlac is a strong potent medicine while most other remedies are weak and ineffective. Mrs. B. Picard, a nurse with many years' experience, is one who knows. She says, "In 10 years' active nursing I have found Tanlac without an equal as a remedy for stomach and liver troubles, and I can certainly promise people wonderful results in view of my long experience with this medicine. I had stomach trouble for years, could eat scarcely anything without suffering, never any appetite, always nervous and run-down. But as soon as I began Tanlac it started to build me right up. All stomach troubles were routed and never any pain, distress or gases since. Now I eat everything with perfect safety. Many 'patent medicines' make glowing promises that may tempt you to buy them but remember Tanlac is a REAL medicine that backs its claims with a guarantee. Do not accept a substitute. At all druggists.

be the gift of the members of Temple Israel Sisterhood as a tribute, and in honor of Mrs. May. After services there will be a social hour in the assembly room at which Mrs. D. Silverman will be hostess during the social hour in honor of her daughter Barba's birthday.

World Day Of Prayer Will Be Observed

All Missionary Societies Of The City And County Will Unite In Union
Service

The executive board of the Women's Missionary Union met at the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday evening to make arrangements for the World's Day of Prayer, which will be fittingly observed in this city March 7.

The program this year has been arranged by a woman of Korea and the subject is "That Jesus May Be Lifted Up." As far back as 1887 this day has been observed by various groups of women in different countries. In 1920 they united as a body to observe this day and made it a world wide day of intercessory prayer for Home and Foreign Missions.

Much interest has been manifested in other years, but an increased interest is expected this year owing to the fact that it is the anniversary of the giving of Pentecost to the world.

All missionary societies and young people are urged to attend this meeting and on February 12 at 2 p. m., all presidents of missionary societies of the different churches or representatives from them are asked to meet with the executive board to complete the plans for the observance of this day in the way it should be done.

Chicago Contractor Victim Of Shooting

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—In sight of scores of co-eds and other University of Chicago students Wednesday, Philip Meather, 35, superintendent of construction on one of the new campus buildings was shot and perhaps fatally wounded.

His assailant was a man who drove up quickly in an automobile, called Meather from the building where he was working, and shot him twice, once in the back and once in the thigh.

Rushed to a hospital, the superintendent said he believed labor troubles were responsible for the attack.

This Nurse Just Couldn't Stop Coughing

Specialists Didn't Help

It takes more than ordinary sweet, syrupy cough mixtures to stop a stubborn cough that persists in hanging on.

For slight ordinary coughs almost any decent cough syrup will do, but if you have one of those tough ones that won't yield to common remedies and often keeps you awake at night then your one best bet is Broncholine Emulsion.

Often one half bottle forces the most stubborn cough to yield and you are better almost before you know it. There is no sugar, chloroform or dope in Broncholine Emulsion; it's a wonderful medicine for people who are getting over a heavy cold or an attack of Flu.

A New York nurse just couldn't stop coughing even after consulting specialists yet one half bottle of Broncholine Emulsion did stop it—completely.

Ask Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. or any good dealer for a bottle—often three or four doses will stop an ordinary cough.

Seeks To Save

'Americanization'

British M. P. Alarmed At "Ravages" Of U. S. Talkie

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Sir Alfred Knox, Conservative, rose in the House of Commons Tuesday afternoon to champion English as it is spoken in England against "ravages" of American language through the medium of talking pictures.

He asked William Graham, president of the Board of Trade, if something could not be done about this through limiting the import of American films and encouraging production of British films.
Graham was afraid nothing could be done just now. He pointed to the Cinematograph act as designed to encourage British films, but added: "I'm not prepared to place direct restrictions on the importations of American talking films into this country."

Judge Berkey And 14 Other Defendants In Conspiracy Plot
Open Defense

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 6.—With the government finished in its testimony, former Judge John A. Berkey and 14 other defendants from Somerset county are having their side of the case presented to the jury here in federal court where the jurist and his co-defendants are being tried on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws.
The former judge himself may take the stand today in denying that he conspired with bootleggers and gamblers in Somerset, Pa., in order to increase his campaign funds through "protection money."

Defense attorneys said that they have 75 witnesses with whose testimony they expect to refute that offered by the government, chiefly through Claude A. M. Welsh, who testified that as a sort of political lieutenant of Berkey, he had been present at a conference with the judge in which it was decided to collect $1 per gallon of bootleg whiskey sold in Somerset and Somerset county.

When the indictment against the judge was returned last fall, he was still in office but his term has since expired.

Rubio's Two Sons Not Alarmed Over Assassin Attempt

Reporter Finds Two Sons Of Mexican President In Gettysburg Classrooms Today

DO NOT FEEL ANY RESENTMENT, REVEAL

Guillermo And Fernando Rubio Refuse To Become Alarmed By Assassination Plot

By CLYDE SHUE
International News Service Staff Correspondent
GETTYSBURG, Pa., Feb. 6.—"It is terrible. We feel it keenly. But we are overjoyed that it was no worse."

Eyes flashing with indignation Guillermo and Fernando Rubio, youthful sons of President Pascual Ortiz Rubio of Mexico, told International News Service today of their reaction to the attempt to assassinate their famous father after his inauguration as chief executive of the turbulent southern republic late yesterday.

Interview Granted
The boys were interviewed at Gettysburg Academy where they are attending classes. Indicative of the almost fatalistic calm with which they have received the news of the attempt on their father's life was the fact that the reporter found both lads bound for their classrooms.

Guillermo, acting as spokesman throughout, denied that he and his brother intended returning posthaste to Mexico.

"Return?" he echoed the question with a slight accent. "No, no. Why should we return? My father and mother will recover."

"Don't you feel any resentment toward the would-be assassin?" he was asked.

"Not resentment, no. Merely pity. Crazy—he uttered the word contemptuously—"Crazy, that's what he is."

"How I Removed My Goitre"
Minister's Wife Tells Experience In Letter Received Locally.

Mrs. F. H. Baker, Titusville, Pa., has written to Paisley Pharmacy telling how she removed a stubborn case of goitre. Her heart, eyes and nerves were in a critical condition. Mrs. Baker has nothing to sell. Everyone is invited to call and read the letter.

For That Cough Which Weakens

THE longer it hangs on, the harder it is to get rid of a stubborn cough. Sleepless nights and loss of strength and appetite often result.

Eckman's Alternative, with its many years of successful use, may be needed to free you from a persistent cough. It is the calcium chloride preparation, without alcohol or narcotics, which tones up the system and restores strength while checking the cough. Your druggist always has it.

ECKMAN LABORATORY, INC.
PHILADELPHIA

"WORK IS EASY SINCE TAKING NEW KONJOLA"

Produce Man, 65, Praises New Medicine For Remarkable Improvement In Health.

MR. JAMES MCCORD

"My work is easy since taking Konjola," said Mr. James McCord, 1427 Easton avenue, Bethlehem. "I was in poor health for two years from indigestion and constipation. I bloated and belched from accumulated gases until I was in intense misery, and this condition seriously interfered with my daily tasks. Constipation was of years standing. In my case, and daily cathartics were necessary for the function of my bowels."

"Just a few bottles of Konjola were sufficient to make a new man of me. I do not blot after eating, and the pain in the pit of my stomach is a thing of the past. My appetite is good and I eat heartily. I have not suffered a day from constipation since I began taking this great medicine. I am stronger and more vigorous than I have been in two years. I cannot say enough in praise of this great medicine. Konjola is sold in New Castle at Love & Megown drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section."

was—this boy, Daniel Flores. Undoubtedly demented.

Wounds Not Serious
"The wounds my father and mother received are not serious, we have been advised. We shall not return to Mexico City unless their condition takes a turn for the worse. This we do not expect."

Guillermo shrugged his shoulders in expressive bewilderment when asked if he believed that the attempt on his father's life was due to a Communist plot or to disgruntled adherents who followed the losing campaign of Jose Vasconcelos, whom their father defeated for the presidency in the last election.

To "Other Party"
"I should say Flores belonged to the other party," Guillermo observed. He refused to amplify the statement as to whether "the other party" meant Communist or Vasconcelos followers.

"Then you don't remain away from classes while awaiting word regarding your parents' condition?"

"Incredible to you?" Guillermo smiled. "Fernando and I shall attend our classes as usual."

And the interview ended with Fernando and Guillermo leaving the academy office for their respective classrooms.

Convention Closes At Hoover Heights

Successful Conference Of Missionary Workers Brought To Close Wednesday

The Missionary Convention at the Hoover Heights Tabernacle closed last evening. The service was a fitting climax for the convention. Ten young people stood signifying their desire to serve Christ, however He might direct. Fifteen came forward for spiritual help and prayer. In addition to this an offering of $600 was given for foreign missions. The leaders and all were happy with these results.

Dr. Hooper gave the closing message stressing the Christians' accountability to God. He based his remarks on the first two chapters of Revelation. In having someone speak about us or to us, the full effect of their words depends largely on the one speaking. So here, as we have God's words about us, it is well to see some of the one speaking. The preacher described the one addressing the church as recorded in the latter part of the first Chapter of Revelation. He is pure and mature. His arms of strength and justice. Eyes of piercing sharpness, seeing all, both within and without. A voice that shall be heard by all, either in commendation or condemnation.

This one commends the church for many things, but has one thing against them, they have lost their first love. In view of the penalty involved, the speaker urged all to be sure that first love was burning in their hearts. That all their acts and decisions before the world spoke of a hunger for God and of a love to Him.

Following are the events of the meet:

Twenty-yard dash—First, Victor Marino; Second, David Gatrall; Third, Ross Bridenbaugh.

Distance swim—First, Robert Renzie; Second, Albert Varley; Third, Victor Marino.

Under water swim—First, Walter Rice; Second, Ross Bridenbaugh; Third, Victor Marino.

Dive for form—First, David Gatrall; Second, Ross Bridenbaugh; Third, Reed Shiner.

Practically every entrant in the meet has learned to swim during the last two years, while attending classes at the Y, but one who saw them in action Wednesday would have thought they have been engaged in swimming for many years.

Competitions were keen in every event and it was difficult to pick the winner in several. In judging which boy was the best all-around swimmer in every event combined each boy made a fine showing, but the work of Victor Marino was a bit outstanding. David Gatrall was a close second to Victor. Both will receive advanced swimmer's pins.

Roger Meermans, assistant to the physical director supervised the different events.

No Improvement In Ex-Mayor's Condition

Samuel A. Barnes, former mayor of the city, who has been ill for some time with pneumonia, has shown no improvement, according to reports received in city hall today. It is said that the former city executive has had continuous hiccupping since Friday.

The former mayor was afflicted with a paralytic stroke eight years ago and presented his resignation. Fred Rentz was appointed to serve the balance of the term.

Its age is a private matter
It is very difficult to discover, by its appearance, how old a Lincoln is. Lincoln believes in making automobiles so beautiful that they are always modern — so durable that they simply won't wear out. The age of a Lincoln is no one's concern—least of all its owner's. On the boulevard a Lincoln of last season and the newest model share honors equally with Lincolns years older than either.

So fine is this car that a year or so of use does not perceptibly detract from any of its splendid qualities. Lincoln owners are often men who can, and do, provide the best professional care for their cars. Sometimes such well-kept cars are available at very attractive prices from Lincoln dealers. The wisdom of investing in such a motor car is quite evident, and shrewd buyers are quick to take advantage of the opportunity.

A few such Lincolns are now to be seen on our floor. Every one is in perfect mechanical condition. We are always glad to demonstrate them to you, without the slightest obligation. Drop in today.

Forecast Big Attendance At Auto Club Meet

Many Reservations Made For Annual Meeting At Castleton Friday Evening

FINE PROGRAM HAS BEEN ARRANGED

Advance reservations indicate a record attendance at the annual meeting of the New Castle Auto Club in the Castleton, Friday evening at 7:30, when S. Edward Gables, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, and Capt. P. J. Dorr, deputy superintendent of the highway motor patrol will speak. Secretary B. N. Hanlon states that a majority of the membership has indicated its intention of attending.

Both Mr. Gables and Capt. Dorr are interesting speakers and will have a message of interest to relate. Mr. Gables will tell of the legislative program of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation and the many things they are planning to do for the affiliated auto clubs in the state. Capt. Dorr will tell what the motor patrol is organized for and of the constructive program it has mapped out for the protection of the motoring public.

At the close of the program, a business session will be held when the board of governors will be named for the coming year. The board in turn will hold an organization meeting following. A buffet lunch will be served at the close of the meeting for all members.

Legion's Leader Active In Civil Life Of El Dorado

Will Make Principal Address At National Commander's Banquet March 4

O. L. BODENHAMER.
National Commander, American Legion.

New Castle is most fortunate in again being selected as the place where the membership of the American Legion in the twenty-sixth congressional district will on March 4 at the Cathedral honor the present National Commander of the Legion, O. L. Bodenhamer of El Dorado, Arkansas.

A poor boy who made the most of his opportunities, National Commander Bodenhamer is known far and wide as a forceful speaker and one who can and will put across some of the special objects of the Legion.

When O. L. Bodenhamer was elevated by his comrades of the World War to the high position of National Commander of The American Legion, it was but further recognition of the sterling qualities of ability and leadership which have characterized his service to the Legion, to his country in time of great national peril, and to his community in time of peace.

Police Sergeants Differ On Number Of Auto Mishaps

One Believes They Are More Numerous And Other That There Is No Increase

Opinions of sergeants in charge of the police station vary in regards to the matter of accident cases reported to the police department as occurring on the streets of the city.

Sergeant James P. Steiner believes that the average number of accidents reported at present is larger than for the corresponding period in 1929.

On the other hand, Sergeant D. T. Nelson believes that they are no greater in number this year than last year, but he is of the opinion that there are more pedestrians being struck and hurt at the present time than at any previous period.

Reports at the police station bear out the contentions of both men. There is no doubt about the number of people being hit by automobiles being somewhat higher now than in the past. There are indications of Sergeant Steiner having received an increased number of reports during his turn on duty.

Odd Fellows Plan Interesting Meetings

Open Meeting To Be Held On February 25 At The I. O. O. F. Hall

Two very interesting meetings are planned by New Castle Lodge No. 195 I. O. O. F., and the members are looking forward to both with great interest. The first of these meetings will be on February 18, when by reason of a special dispensation, a class of candidates will receive the second and third degrees on the same night. This is very unusual as it is customary never to put on more than any one degree in a night.

On February 25, it is planned to hold an open meeting for the members and their friends. A fine program is being arranged for the occasion and the speaker of the evening will be Attorney Norvel R. Daugherty of Pittsburgh, a brilliant and forceful speaker, who will have a message that will be enjoyed by all.

There will also be selections by the Glee Club from Youngtown, which has eighteen members and renders musical numbers in an especially pleasing manner.

Kidnapers Free Aged Man After Severe Beating

New Haven Real Estate Broker Recently Kidnapped Is Found Wandering Along Road

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Max Price, New Haven real estate broker, who was kidnapped nine days ago by New York and Detroit gangsters for a huge ransom, was found wandering about at Fairfield, a suburb of Bridgeport, Conn., early today. He had been beaten and both his eyes were blacked and his face bruised.

Taken before police in Bridgeport, Price said he had been beaten for four days by his kidnapers in a vacant house in New Haven.

Last night he said he was finally led from the house, taken for a long automobile ride, and told to get back to New Haven as best he could.

Price said he did not think any of the ransom demanded for his release had been paid. The elderly victim said he thought he was released because of the publicity given his abduction and that his captors feared police were about to arrest them.

Divorce Record Set In Chicago

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—A record for divorce action which Court Clerk Gus Wedelemer declared has not been approached by any other American jurist was made in January by Judge Thomas L. Lynch in Circuit Court. He signed 515 divorce petitions. In addition, Judge Lynch heard 2031 motions for divorce, a record which the clerk claimed is approached only by Judge Lynch's own record for December, when he granted 503 divorces and heard 2067 petitions. At the rate the year has started, 1930 will set a new high record in Chicago. In 1929 the total was 19,336. In January, besides the 515 petitions signed by Judge Lynch there, 513 divorces were granted in Superior Court by Judges Charles Williams and Joseph Sabath.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germy laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Many Pennsylvania Teachers Members Of National Body

State Second In Union In Point Of Membership, Figures Reveal

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 6.—Thirty-three percent of the teachers of Pennsylvania belong to the National Education Association, according to the current report of the Division of Records and Membership of that organization. With 21,206 members, the state ranks second in the Union. Ohio, with 23,850 members outranks Pennsylvania. With 230 life members, Pennsylvania ranks third in life enlistment.

Philadelphia has the fifth largest membership of any city in the nation with a total of 3,497 members. One hundred percent of the teachers in six counties in Pennsylvania belong to the National Education Association. These counties are: Berks, Alvin F. Kemp, county superintendent; Blair, T. S. Davis, superintendent; Hollidaysburg, Bradford, J. Andrew Morrow, superintendent; Towanda, Chester, Clyde T. Saylor, superintendent; West Chester, Cumberland, Ralph Jacoby, superintendent; Carlisle, and Delaware, Carl G. Leach, superintendent.

The National Education Association enrolled one fourth of all the teachers in the United States in 1929 with a total membership of 206,681, the largest membership the organization has ever had, and a gain for the year of 12,536.

The National Education Association, which has been for some years the largest professional organization in the world, was organized in 1857 for the purpose of promoting the welfare of childhood and the cause of education in the United States. The Association's staff of 125 members is an office building owned by the Association. A seven-story annex is soon to be added to the building. The Association is engaged in extensive projects of research in education. It issues The Journal of the National Education Association which circulates to the entire membership, and publishes more than one million pages a year of reports, proceedings and other material of value to educators.

Boston Hood, Once A Great Lion Tamer, Tells Of His Five Years Under 'Big Top'

(By JANET KISSINGER)

Five years beneath the "big canvas" thrilling years amidst roaring, snarling animals—leopards, outlaws, elephants, howling hyenas and restless lions moving savagely up and down their cages, years lurid with sensational encounters—such was the experience of Boston Hood of New Castle, who was, years ago, a lion tamer of great ability.

Husky, tall, a decisive talker, a quick thinker, with a dominating, self-controlled personality—that is Boston Hood. As he told the writer of his show experiences during the years with Bob Hunting's circus, Noah's Ark show, and London zoo, it was, oh, so easily perceptible that, although many years have passed since his show days, Boston Hood's heart is still in the canvas city—probably in a lion's cage.

It was during the summer of 1893 that the hand of fate beckoned to a young man and led him to walk down Washington street and meet, in front of a hotel, a rotund gentleman who asked the young man if he would hood a couple of ponies for a few minutes.

The young man was Boston Hood. The owner of the ponies was Bob Hunting of circus fame.

"Do you know anything about caring for animals?" was the question of Bob Hunting to young Hood, when returning for his ponies.

"Not much, sir," was Hood's reply.

"Would you like to come along with the circus?"

Would he! Boston Hood did some quick figuring. Yes, he would go.

When stakes were pulled and the circus moved on, Boston Hood was the latest addition to the company.

Boston Hood's work did not require him to enter the cages of the animals. However, one day when Bob Hunting, owner of the circus, was away, Archie Reed, a New Castle man and also a member of the circus, asked:

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages.

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more yawning, snuffling, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh is gone.

Don't stuff up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid.

"How about doing a little lion taming, Boston?"

"Alright."

And so, armed with a small leaded whip, Boston Hood entered the lions' cage. He supposed that his buddy was following him in, but he looked back to see that he was alone—except for the lions. And the door was closed.

"How did I feel? Sick," Mr. Hood told the writer Wednesday afternoon.

"Sick to my stomach."

But the door was soon opened by Reed and Boston Hood made a hasty exit, before the lions quite realized much of a good dinner they had missed.

The next day, Archie Reed smilingly asked Hood, "How about taming the lions a little more?"

And again Boston went into the lions' cage, this time to stay a little longer and to become a little better acquainted. The leaded whip is not a person who does not know the science of using it. The only way to stay a lion with a whip is to hit him on the nose, according to Mr. Hood.

Bob Hunting returned and soon was told of the incident.

"Look here, young man," he said to Boston, "stay away from those lion cages—too dangerous unless you know the cats."

But Boston Hood did not know his cats and it was only a short time until the owner of the circus recognized his ability, and fitted him out in a bright new uniform of a lion tamer.

This was a great day for Boston, when he first appeared before the public in this capacity.

According to Mr. Hood there were many New Castle men who had joined the circus. There was Dave Tidball, who had charge of advertising; Mike and Dennis Ryan, in charge of reserved seats; ex-Fire Chief Frank Connerly, a trap drummer in the band; Bill and Joe Shatenocker and their father, Chris. Bob Hunting's circus was almost entirely made up of local people, says Hood.

The circus traveled all over the United States. At every show crowds of people would fill the tent to watch the trapeze stunts, tight wire walkers, animal trainers, bare back riders and clowns.

Perhaps some people have wondered why the ring horse, on which beautiful maidens ride, is always white. Every time, before the act, resin is rubbed on the horse's back so as to make it less slippery for the bare back rider to stand on. A white or light colored horse is used so the resin will not show, Boston Hood explains.

Wallace was the most ferocious lion Boston Hood ever worked with. This lion was owned by London zoo, where Hood spent one year.

"Wallace was untamable. He could be taught no tricks, but the lion was a drawing card because of his dangerous demeanor," says Boston Hood.

"My act was to go into the cage and get out again without being mauled to death. My assistant would quickly open the cage door, and I would step into the cage with Wallace. For a brief moment, Wallace would pause before springing. During that time I would get around him, my assistant would open the door at the right moment, and I was out just as Wallace was ready to spring."

When asked if he had ever been hurt when handling the lions, Boston Hood said he had received a scratch once when he got too close to a cage. A lion reached out and clawed his hand. But it was an elephant, instead of a lion, which came nearest to putting an end to Boston Hood.

Boston lifted a canvas guard to look at a huge, outlaw elephant one day. The elephant was chained to several iron pegs. But its trunk was not chained, and so the beast used this very effectively in lifting the lion tamer up in the air and hurled him into a corner. The elephant's intentions probably were to trample his man, but the chains on its legs prevented this, which was fortunate for Boston Hood. The iron peg, on which he was thrown, tore a gash in his ear, the scar still remaining.

Boston Hood had been thinking of quitting the nomad life led by a circus man, and this last incident decided him. At the end of that season he returned to New Castle, where he has lived ever since. But during those five years with Bob Hunting, Noah's Ark, London zoo and Sig Sawtell, Hood had had thrilling experiences with which no other kind of work compares.

Pittsburgh Man Guilty Of Arson Plans To Appeal

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 6.—Samuel Benjamin, a Pittsburgh butcher, today had been found guilty of a charge of arson, following the verdict of a jury in criminal court which so reported last night after five hours and a half of deliberating.

Benjamin was indicted for the charge following an explosion in the cellar of his building last September 28. A check made out to "cash" for $300, signed by Benjamin was found on the body of a dead man in the rear of the butcher shop on the first floor after the explosion.

Benjamin was released on $5,000 bail today, pending the outcome of his appeal for a new trial.

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., Feb. 6.—Poses are scouring the wilderness

This Man Puzzled--Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 22 Days

Wants to Know Where the Fat Went to

This man was fat—60 pounds overweight—wanted to stay home every night and nurse the old arm chair—getting in and out of his auto was all the exercise he cared for—his desire for any form of activity had died years ago.

Then one night as he read the evening paper cheering news broke for him—he read the story of Kruschen Salts—what it was doing for the fat folks of America—tens of thousands of them—they were losing fat—and plenty of it.

The next morning he started—one generous half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast—every morning the same—in a week he wanted to walk to business—he didn't know why—but the urge for activity seemed to flood his whole being and he followed the urge.

His wife was astonished—delighted—and when one evening he said with eagerness—"Let's go to a show to-night, dear"—her joy was unbounded.

That while Kruschen feeling that means more energy—more vigor—more ambition took possession of him—he took long walks every day—and enjoyed them.

He got on the scales one evening and came home with sprightly step—"eleven pounds of fat gone!" he almost hollered—he danced a few steps with the activeness of youth—and his wife danced with him.

In 22 days 19 pounds of unneeded and unwanted fat had left him and he marveled—and his friends marveled with him.

"Where did it all go to?" he asked and no one could answer.

Kruschen Salts drives poisonous waste from the system—it acts on liver, kidneys and stomach and keeps them in tip-top condition—it keeps you feeling fit and fine all the time.

Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. and leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts for 85c a bottle which lasts 4 weeks.

SIXTEEN-CYLINDERS

With the introduction of the sixteen-cylinder Cadillac, the Cadillac Motor Car Company has in the strictest sense provided for the three distinct price classifications in the fine car market.

The eight-cylinder Cadillac, with its luxurious Fisher and Fleetwood bodies, more than meets the needs of the major price classification and is established as the world's finest motor car—with the single exception of the new and more highly personalized Cadillac V-16.

As for the La Salle, the public's appreciation of its unequalled value and brilliant performance has impressively demonstrated Cadillac's ability to respond to the very real demand for a moderately priced quality car.

Since the building of the first eight-cylinder Cadillacs and La Salles almost half a million of these splendid motor cars have eminently served the most exclusive homes in America and abroad.

Really, no man or woman seeking the best possible investment in a fine automobile need look further. The eight-cylinder Cadillac and the eight-cylinder La Salle have attained such a degree of perfection that an understanding of their superiorities literally sets them apart from all other cars.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Don't Brand Young Pupil 'Dumb-bell'

Not the Duke of Wellington, but a dear of Wellington, O., writes:

"Dear Mr. Myers: For some time past I have been quite interested in your valuable articles on child life and its allied subjects, published in Elyria, Ohio, especially, along educational lines.

Being the parent of three boys and four girls that have grown to man and womanhood, you would, of course, expect that I had enjoyed an exceptional opportunity to observe child life over a period of many years, our youngest daughter being now in her first year of high school."

After discussing at great length his observations in the field of natural sciences, in which he discusses wide differences in innate things of varying types and wide variations in environment, he continues:

"In view of these fundamentals, ought it to require such a terrible strain on the imagination to see why some children learn so quickly and forget just as easily, or that some learn oh, so, so hard or slowly, but never forget what they learn? And while we are about it, wouldn't it be fine if some of these modern educators would wake up to the fact that it is a dastardly crime against all childhood to label them either dumb-bells or I Q-nesses, according to the folly of present day short-sighted

Noah Numbskull educational standards?

"Is the present educational method of lumping all shades and varieties of children into the 'dumb-bell I Q-ness' school hopper, giving the children of the nation a square deal?"

During the past several years the schools have been making a desperate effort to give the brighter children a chance, although a good deal of grief has accompanied the attempt.

Perhaps the inquirer has in mind the brand which the school sometimes puts upon the duller child, labeling him a dumb-bell and encouraging the brighter children to look down upon their duller comrades with contempt. If that is his plea, I think he has a strong point.

Those who have been attempting to classify children roughly on the basis of their indicated ability to learn have never wished to discourage the slower child. Nevertheless, they sometimes have.

Many an indiscreet teacher speaks to other teachers about the dumb-bells. In order to defend herself when her superior drops in, the teacher may say to this superior before her pupils: "These are slow children." Soon the word goes about the school building that the children in room 28 make up the dumb-bell class. In the communities where these children live, busy-bodied parents of brighter children know about the dumb-bells. At the Ladies' Aid society, or Missionary society, or bridge party, Mrs. Tugleys volunteers: "Too bad Henry Paisley is so slow. You know he is in the dumb-bell class at school." "Yes," adds Mrs. Thompson, "the Kirbys have a girl in that class, too. It must be awful to have such children, and the Kirbys are such fine, bright people. You know my children are both in the High I. Q. class."

It is the snobbish parents who gloat over being glorified by having children who shine at school that brand the slower children dullards.

The purpose of the school is good, but some parents are still so childish and so intoxicated with egotism that the best things attempted by the school are often rendered useless, or actually turned into human curses.

Stuffed Grate Is Cause Of Blaze

Accumulation Of Soot In Unused Grate Takes Fire; Causing $10 Damage

Firemen were called to the home of Mrs. A. Stevens of 834 East Washington street, by an alarm from Box 46 yesterday, where fire originating from a stuffed grate caused damage of $10 to the home and contents.

A tin screen had been placed over the front of the grate which was not being used, but in spite of this, a box of bedclothing placed near it ignited. The fire was discovered by Assistant Chief, J. Clare Stockman, who turned in an alarm. When this did not register, Mrs. Stockman called the alarm in by telephone.

Traces Of Old Race Found In Germany

KOENIGSBERG Feb. 6.—The excavations conducted under the direction of the Koenigsberg Prussia Museum in the so-called Samland in East Prussia disclose more evidence that this section was very thickly settled during the first five or six centuries of the Christian era.

More than 200 graves have thus far been found, with great quantities of amber beads. Virtually the entire amber deposits of the world are located at and around Palmnicken, near Koenigsberg, where about 50 long tons are mined every year.

End Bunion Pain Forever

No Need to Suffer Another Day Those Agonizing Torturing Pains

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to reduce inflamed, swollen toe joints and get them down to normal, and that is to apply Moone's Emerald Oil night and morning, and people who suffer from such enlargements would be wise to reduce them before they reach a more or less chronic stage.

Ask any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces last a long time, and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

Special note: People who want to reduce swollen or various veins should get a bottle of Emerald Oil at once. By applying night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement, which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Lawrence County Shows Increase In Employment

Gain Over Preceding Year In Number Of Salaried Employees and Wage Earners

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 6.—Pennsylvania's industrial plants in 1928 gave employment to 1,399,302 wage salaried employees according to tabulations compiled by the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs.

Lawrence County with 14,465 wage and salaried employees in 1928, advanced from 23 to 21st position in this regard. Mercer county had 13,427 wage earners and salaried people; Beaver county 28,213; and Butler county, 7,913.

Philadelphia County led the other counties in the state with 288,180 industrial workers. Allegheny county stood second with 185,701 and Luzerne county with third with 92,366. In order followed Lackawanna, Schuylkill, Westmoreland, Berks and Northampton, these counties occupying the same positions in 1928 as they occupied in 1927.

Pulton County and Pike county showing the smallest number of employees, changed places in 1928.

Throughout the list of counties numerous position changes were noted in 1928, some sections adding employees while other communities employees were dropped or the payrolls changed sufficiently to permit counties to exchange places.

Philadelphia and Allegheny counties were the only two in the state to pass the one hundred thousand mark in industrial employees in 1928.

Material Death Rate Decreases

Pennsylvania One Of Nine States In Union Showing Improved Record

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 6.—Pennsylvania was one of the nine states in the country which reported lower maternal mortality rates in 1928, the last year for which figures are available, than in any year since being admitted into the United States birth registration area, according to an analysis of rates for that year made public today by the Children's Bureau of the department of labor.

Pennsylvania's rate during 1928 was 61 maternal death per 10,000 live births. The rate for the whole birth registration area of forty-four states and the District of Columbia in 1928 was 69 per 10,000 live births.

The other eight states reporting the lowest maternal death rates since their admission to the area are Arizona, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Iowa, Vermont, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Pennsylvania was one of the states which were cooperating under the federal maternity and infancy act until the expiration of the act at the end of the last fiscal year, in an effort to reduce its maternal and infant mortality rates.

SUFFERED EVERY SPRING FOR TWENTY YEARS

Learned the Secret of How to Feel Full of Pep From the World's Tonic Lecturer

"I used to dread the coming of Spring," said C. M. Schuler of New Castle, Pa., a man fifty years old, while talking with the Tonic lecturer. "Somehow when Nature began to brighten things up, I got dull and listless. My appetite was poor, I was cold and just wanted to loaf around the fire or in the warm sun every Spring."

"People used to talk about Spring fever. Guess I must have had it. But one night I heard the World's Tonic lecturer explain why I felt that way. He said the rich, heavy food we ate in the winter, the way we lived indoors, and our lack of exercise made our body sluggish. Often, he said, that sluggishness resulted in catarrhal conditions. Then our whole body was poisoned by waste matter we didn't throw off, and the blood was thick with impurities. That set me thinking, and I realized he was describing my case. I took a bottle of World's Tonic and its effect was wonderful. It wasn't a week before I began to feel better. My catarrh was cleaned up and my constipation was over as my bowels worked naturally. My kidneys and bladder are now throwing off the poison. My rheumatism has left me and I began to feel full of energy. In two weeks I was glad it was Spring."

"That's what ails a lot of us. Instead of being Spring that hurts us, it's the load of impurities we carry over from the Winter. Now a bottle or two of World's Tonic makes me feel like a new man every Spring."

World's Tonic is sold by E. K. McKee's, McKee's, Paisley's, Smith's and all other reliable druggists. (A-167)

"When people reach the age that you two have, you shouldn't be seeking divorce," Judge Cleveland told the couple.

Committee To Be Formed To Push Armory Project

McBride Post Will Seek Early Action On Armory For National Guard Unit

SIX NEW MEMBERS ARE OBLIGATED

Commander James A. Bell of the Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, announced at the meeting of the post last evening, that a committee will be named in the near future to push the project of securing a new armory for New Castle.

It is the belief of the local veterans post that New Castle should have a building of this nature. There has been a national guard unit here for many years, but apparently no recognition has been taken of the fact that an armory building is needed to house the unit.

Just at this particular time, when efforts are being made to stimulate business, the erection of such a building here would prove additional work for men who are now idle.

Last night's meeting of the post was a most interesting one, six new members receiving the obligation of the order for the first time. A number of interesting topics were brought up for discussion during the course of the evening.

Members spent considerable time, addressing letters to veterans in the county, advising them of the bill congressman J. Howard Swick has introduced, calling for a pension for World war veterans who are now disabled, and who are unable to trace their present illness or disability to army service. In many cases, this has been the immediate cause of their present condition, but medical evidence, which the Veterans Bureau demands, is lacking.

Members of the post were advised of the invitation extended by Sharon Post, to attend the big V. F. W. meeting on Friday evening, February 14th, when the anniversary of the sinking of the Maine will be commemorated.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon and was called to order by the speaker.

The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Be gracious unto us, our Father, according to our necessity and according to Thy generosity. Bless us with the intimations of Thy presence so that we shall find ourselves beloved of God. We thank Thee that as our lives pass on they are laden from above with the ineffable. We pray for all the nations. Unite them in confidence, in co-operation of labor, and in the sacrifice of national selfishness. O may laws, institutions, and governments everywhere be reformed, and may mankind be transformed by leaving behind the power of the flesh. Be with us today in the fullness of the blessing of our Jehovah Father. Amen.

Lessens shaving irritation

MEN with tender skin discovered this luxury shave. They found that after it their faces felt cool and smooth, and that their razors never pulled. They passed the idea on to their friends, and now there's quite a group of "Vaseline" shavers. They are not all men with tender skins and tough beards, either. ANY man's face, normal or sensitive, shows its gratitude for this simple, soothing treatment.

Wouldn't you like to join this comfort club? Membership is open. All you have to do is spread a thin film of "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly over the beard before you shave. Lather as usual. Your razor strokes quicker and closer and your face looks and feels better. The Jelly heals any little nicks or scratches, too, and softens dry or chapped skin.

Try it once and you'll never shave without "Vaseline" Jelly. You can buy it in jars or tubes at all good drug stores.

Held In Jail On Forged Check Charge

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 6.—W. C. Sutton, 49, of Roscoe, is in the Butler jail, following his commitment by Alderman Carl G. Phillips on charges of passing forged checks. He is alleged to have operated in Erie, New Castle and towns in Butler, Venango and Clarion counties. It is alleged that the fact that most of the checks, forged on George M. Arnold, were for $26.40, and this recurrence led the state police in tracing Sutton's activities. Sutton told Alderman Phillips that he discussed the subject of forged checks with his victims before trying to pass those of his own making.

"THE MAN'S SHOP"

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

I was going to write a column today, but I have decided to let Mrs. G. G. of Mud Springs, Nebraska, write it for me. I have before me her letter. Nebraska seems to have a corner on women like her. I've had three such letters, all from Omaha or that vicinity. Her letter thrilled me.

Mrs. G. lives four miles from her closest neighbor. The railway station is 16 miles away. They have a "poor excuse for a house" and no conveniences, except what she calls "a rattling good lizzie." She has a fine husband, three rosy-cheeked youngsters. She married the man of her choice and her poverty doesn't make her regret it.

They have no radio. Only an old organ you have to pump with your feet. But cheerily she tells you she is realizing her dearest ambition—writing fairy stories and rhymes for her children. "They are crude," she says, "but the children love them and my husband says that I am a Hans Christian Andersen and a Mother Goose combined."

Right now they are snowed in and while they are, she is making over her clothes for the children and her husband is making nursery furniture for the children.

"We are as poor as the proverbial church mice," says the lady, and the bank in which we had a few dollars saved, failed recently. I haven't had a new dress for three years, but the dress I have is clean and well pressed and I'm not at all ashamed of it.

"We have very little for entertainment, so we save it and when we drive to town once a week we use it to buy a little something for the children. We don't miss the entertainment."

"During the long winter evenings you will find us around the kitchen table playing home made games, or making fairy dresses for the children out of newspapers."

"What are riches if not combined with love and service? Where are comforts and joy if not at home where there is children's laughter and love? We have had a Great deal of adversity but what of it? It's made the home ties stronger. We try to live in the footsteps of our maker, and teach our children to do the same way. And the children's 'God Bless Mother and Daddy' will somehow reach the throne. We have health and youth so we will make it—somehow."

"If these girls contemplating suicide would change surroundings and get a job—any kind—meet clean people, marry a good man and have children, they would be ashamed of ever having thought of suicide—which after all, is sneaking out of the back door."

She adds that she doesn't envy the thrill seeking, jazz-mad girls their turs and diamonds. She thanks God she is where and what she is.

Now read that and then take a look in the nearest mirror.

Woman Witness In Uniontown Startles With Her Testimony

Woman Contends That Late District Attorney Who Suicided Knew Of Donohue Murder

(International News Service.)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 6.—District Attorney N. W. Rosenberg, who killed himself shortly after Deputy Constable John Donohue was found murdered last July 31 was mixed up in the Fayette county liquor racket, according to the testimony of Mrs. Helen Hess.

Mrs. Hess testified here at the inquest yesterday that Donohue had told her that he had used an incident at a mountain cabin in which a woman was involved, as a "club" over the head of the district attorney. Because of what he knew, Mrs. Hess testified, Rosenberg was afraid to put an end to Donohue's bootlegging activities.

Mrs. Hess testified that a glove owned by Rosenberg had been found near the scene of the Donohue slaying, but she could not recall where she had learned that.

The woman also involved Justice of the Peace C. C. Garlett of Brownsville when she testified that through her he made a trip to the Uniontown jail, in disguise, for a conference with special prosecutor A. E. Jones and "Big Ed" Wonsstler. Garlett warned her to leave the county unless she changed her story about Glenn Allum being in her home the night of the slaying, Mrs. Hess testified.

JOB-A-WEEK

George

A story for all office workers

All the employment agencies knew him by that name. A sober, industrious, capable employee—but no one wanted him around. He fitted from job to job. Couldn't afford to do it either. Getting old. Married. Children. It would have been a kindness for some one to tell him what his trouble was.

Employers, personnel managers, department heads, simply will not tolerate employees who have halitosis (bad breath). You can readily understand why.

Halitosis is wide spread—due to the fact that everyday conditions (many of germ origin) develop in the mouth and cause odors. Defective teeth. Minor infections. Fermenting food particles.

Eliminate all risk of offending others by the daily use of full strength Listerine, the safe antiseptic.

So active a germicide it kills the Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germ in counts ranging to 200,000,000, full strength Listerine strikes at the cause of mouth odors. Then, being a powerful deodorant, destroys the odors themselves.

Our free Book of Etiquette will be sent on request. Address Dept. H. 7, Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

The Story Of The Boxer Rebellion
The Foreign Occupation Of Peking

AUGUST 15, 1900 THE DAY AFTER THE INTERNATIONAL RELIEF COLUMN ENTERED PEKING, ALLIED TROOPS ENTERED THE "FORBIDDEN CITY" (THE INNERMOST QUARTER OF THE CHINESE CAPITAL) ONLY TO FIND THAT THE EMPEROR AND HIS COURT HAD FLED TOWARD THE WESTERN HILLS.

BY THIS TIME THE BOXERS HAD BEEN DISPERSED OR DRIVEN FROM THE CITY. THE TUMULT HAD SUBSIDED AND FOREIGN SOLDIERS PATROLLED THE STREETS TO PREVENT LOOTING OR DISORDER.

NOTE - THE GERMANS ON OCCUPYING PEKING REMOVED THE FAMOUS ANCIENT ASTRONOMICAL INSTRUMENTS OF KUNIAI KHAN TO POTSDAM. THIS ACT WAS DENOUNCED EVEN BY THE GERMAN PRESS. LATER BY THE TERMS OF THE TREATY OF VERSAILLES GERMANY AGREED TO RETURN THE INSTRUMENTS.

LATE IN SEPTEMBER, 1900, GERMANY SENT AN ARMY OF 20,000 MEN UNDER COUNT VON WALDERSEE TO CHINA. BUT THERE WAS LITTLE FIGHTING TO BE DONE, AND AFTER A FEW PUNITIVE EXPEDITIONS HAD BEEN SENT TO OUTLYING DISTRICTS, MOST OF THE FOREIGN TROOPS WERE WITHDRAWN.

MEANWHILE, THE CHINESE EMPEROR, THE DOWAGER EMPRESS AND HIGH OFFICIALS OF THE COURT HAD FLED TO THE DISTANT PROVINCE OF SHENSI IN THE INTERIOR. AFTER SOME WEEKS, ENVOYS WERE SENT TO PEKING TO TREAT WITH THE FOREIGN LEADERS FOR THE RESTORATION OF FRIENDLY RELATIONS. TOMORROW - THE POWERS DEMAND REPARATIONS.

Baseball Players To Dine Tonight

Dinner-Smoker At Hillsville Tonight Is Gala Affair For Lawrence County League

FINE PROGRAM IS ARRANGED

With plenty of chicken and everything that goes with it on hand, the big dinner-smoker of the Lawrence county baseball league will get under way at Hillsville tonight at 7 o'clock. The committee, Nick Navarra and Patsy Colucci, has seen to it that all is ready.

It is Hillsville's night to entertain the baseball boys. A few months ago Bessemer had the league players out there for a feed and it was enjoyable. The event tonight is in the form of an early season session of the league. Great plans are under way for the Lawrence county league this summer and tonight the foundation will be laid.

District Attorney John Powers will drop his official duties long enough tonight to sit in at the banquet and also say a few nice words about baseball and criminals. Powers will be substituting for Hans Wagner, who is unable to attend the doings tonight.

Officials to Speak
C. D. Montgomery of Bessemer is also listed as a speaker, along with President William G. Andrews of the Lawrence county league; Eddie Conery, secretary; Alec Samuels, vice-president; and Louis "Pick" Glick, commissioner.

From the looks of things now there will be a lot of chicken put away tonight. The writer had gone on a diet for a week, and hopes the committee has saved him an entire chicken.

It is reported that Ellwood City will be represented tonight at the dinner. An effort is to be made to get the Ellwoodians back into the league here this summer.

The scene of the banquet is the new high school building of Hillsville one of the show places of the town. The huge auditorium will be utilized through the courtesy of the Hillsville school board.

The Pennsylvania railroad orchestra will furnish the music. A fine program has been arranged for the occasion.

STARS OF YESTERDAY

BY AL WINFIELD

Of all the great gunners of the national pastime, the men who have, year after year, delighted fans and wrecked opposing aggregations by driving pitchers from the mound with their rifle shot, I always liked old Adrian C. Anson the best.

I know you young fellows who glimpsed Cobb in his twilight years, who saw Rogers Hornsby leading the Cards into the heat of the fray, who marveled at the havoc wrought by Big Bertha Babe Ruth and at this Speaker's cunning, think these moderns are better than the chaps of the old days.

Maybe so. Maybe so. But, then, you didn't see Cap Anson in his heyday.

I only know this—Anson was a great hitter AND a great manager. Star that Cobb was he did nothing much with the Detroit under his hand. Hornsby won a pennant in 1926, but that season his hitting fell from 403 in the year previous to a faint 317. Ruth has never managed a club. Speaker's record is best. He hit 383 in 1920 while managing the Indians to a pennant.

Let's look at Anson's record. The first great hitting star of the National league, from the year of its inception until 1897—21 years—Anson was the most consistent and most disastrous hitter in the loop. For 18 of those years he was over the .300 mark and twice topped 400.

From 1877 to 1897 he managed the Chicago club, playing first base and hitting like a demon. Under him the Windy City crew won five pennants and was second four times. Only FOUR times during his 21 seasons as boss were the Chicagoans in the second division.

In his pennant years Anson batted as follows: 1880, .338; 1881, .399 (this beats Speaker's fine mark); 1882, .362; 1885, .310 and 1886, .371. In 1888 he won the league in hitting.

All right, youngsters, answer that one!

Kandy Kids Beat Aliquippa Stars

Kandy Kids Of Wampum Step Out Of Class To Take Victory Over Aliquippa Team

Stepping completely out of their class to tangle with the J. and L. Stars of Aliquippa, the Wampum Kandy Kids flashed a fast passing attack which completely swamped the visitors to the tune of 45 to 16. Playing against such stars as Fouse and Jones, formerly of Aliquippa high school fame and Dickson and Brisbane, formerly of Monaca high school, the "Kids" stacked up against some of the best experienced players they have met so far this year.

At no time was the game in doubt as to who would emerge the victor. The Wampum '5' started out fast and furious and when the first period ended, were leading by a 16 to 4 count. Keeping up a sensational passing attack, the game was on ice as the half ended with the Stars on the short end of a 26 to 10 score. All substitutes were rushed in by Coach Patterson with the beginning of the third period and they held the Aliquippa aggregation to 5 points while they themselves scored 4. The score at the end of this period still favored the "Kids" by a large margin, being 30 to 15. With the first team back in action in the last quarter, the Aliquippa Stars were held to a lone free toss while the K. K. Klub ran wild scoring 15 points.

This victory marked the 14th consecutive win, or the 23rd win out of 25 starts this season which is quite a record to boast of considering the teams that the K. K. Klub has faced this year. Dickson and Dull were the best for the losers during this one-sided win while the "Kids" as a whole were marvelous. Every player on the Wampum team played well, not one looking any better than the other. The defense of the K. K. Klub was at its best, all six buckets of the visitors being registered from the center of the floor.

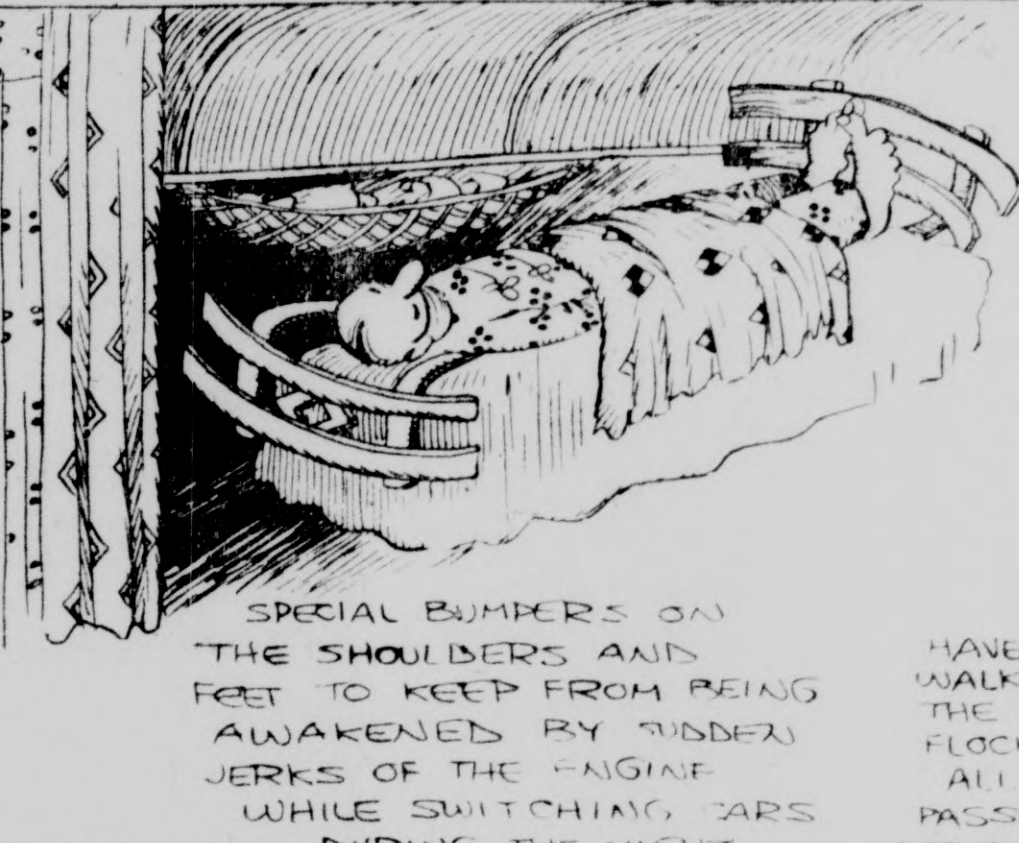

Summary:

McNaught Syndicate, Inc. N. Y.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

There are few fighters who can boast 38 knockouts and 12 decisions in 50 fights and owing to this Al Lippe, manager of Tommy Maroon, featherweight foe of Babe Ruth, Cincinnati, next Monday night at Jolly bowl, believes that Maroon some day will wear the featherweight championship.

In the days of Abe Attel, he was under the management of Lippe and Al knows a fighter when he sees one. There have been some stars uncovered at Jolly bowl and according to Lippe, the fans of New Castle will have plenty of thrills when Maroon climbs into the ring with Ruth.

"He hasn't lost a fight and has not been fighting more than two years. In that time he has fought 50 times. Thirty eight have been knocked out and he has won 12 decisions," Al writes. According to Ruth's manager, Babe has fought everybody who is anybody in the fight game.

George Perotta is training with Emmett Rocco. George is scheduled to fight Red Jadabird in the six round semi-final. George scored a knockout over Joe Midway in his "comeback" venture several weeks ago and daily travels the pace that conditions with Rocco.

Jackie Ward, Cleveland and Bud Dempsie, Ambridge, who fought Carl Cavelli here, will go on for six rounds and Marshal Crochette of Cleveland will step with young Folans in another six round preliminary. These two bouts will act as a tuneup for the semi-final and the main bout.

Emmett Rocco, the hard-hitting heavyweight yesterday went through 10 hard rounds of training in his South Mill street training quarters as he has been matched to fight Frank Sims at Cleveland, October 21. Knockout Christian of Akron has turned down an offer to fight Rocco at Akron.

Yesterday the big fellow boxed six rounds with George Perotta, who showed a lot of "pep." After they had wrestled for an additional six minutes Rocco slammed the big bag and then shadow-boxed. After a round he said he felt fine and would be in good shape for Sims.

While Rocco and Perotta were milling, Eddie Flick, an Oil City youngster who is being groomed by Bob Latera threw punches at Latera who caught them on his gloves. Recently Eddie had a sore jaw and Bob had to call off a bout at Oil City, February 7.

Young Sapienza, Evans City, a bantamweight is also training at Rocco's gymnasium and it is probable he will go into action here soon. He is a fast kid and his pretty fair with his right hand. He ought to make a good match with Frankie Landis.

A little more than a year ago Joey Goodman was a 100 fighter. Today he is a title contender and considered a pretty good one, at that. New Castle in a large measure has had considerable to do with his fistic triumphs but to Jimmy Dunn he owes his present status. A few nights ago he almost knocked out Sammy Mandell, the lightweight champion, when he rocked him around in the eighth round.

All accounts of their fight were to the effect that Joey tried in the eleventh and twelfth and had this not occurred he would have received a draw. Being no more than a kid and lacking some of the polish that a champion must have, Goodman didn't know how to conserve his strength and put 12 rounds of fighting in 10 and lagged behind in the last two chapters.

He was found in Virginia by Paddy Mylott, formerly of New Castle, who taking a liking to the southern kid gave him a Horace Greeley and told him to "Go to Jimmy Dunn at Cleveland." Having known Paddy as a friend Joey did that and it was not long afterward that Dunn came here and asked that he be booked. Goodman slammed over a knockout in his first appearance at the bowl.

Got His Chance.
Being ambitious he pleaded for a chance in a main bout and Jimmy Reed was picked as his foe. Jimmy is a lopsided or sidewheeler, pugilistically and his style puzzled Joey who lost the decision but the loss spurred him on and he crept up the ladder by beating Jimmy Duffy, took on Reed again, laced him to a fartheewell and then crimped Maxie Strub in addition to whipping one of the Perlick twins. And then—the big shot, Mr. Man-dell. A lot of the boys and that included Yours Truly expected Mr. Goodman to get a boxing lesson but he didn't get the kind of a lesson a lot expected. He got the jump on Mandell, tore into him and never stopped for 10 rounds. In fact, while Mandell got the decision he was damaged more than Joey and in the eighth round was flabbergasted, weary and was near a knockout.

The boy we paid $100 a year ago drew down $1,700 for his end. Being the one who wanted the shot he had to take the small dough, $1,500 with a privilege of 10 percent in order to get the fight while the champion, like all champions collected the lion's share and the gate over-ran his $7,500 guarantee. But it wasn't the $1,700 that pleased Joey but rather his showing.

Unlike a lot of contenders he didn't show the least sign of stagefright facing a champion. In fact Joey looked upon Mr. Mandell as simply Mr. Mandell then proceeded about the business of the night. He got a tremendous ovation and the bowl in a measure can add Joey to the list of stars discovered there. We wouldn't be surprised were he to run over and strut his ability with someone sometime soon at the bowl.

"I never had the slightest fear Joey wouldn't come through," said Jimmy Dunn. "A lot of boys thought I was making a 'boner' but I generally know my boys and I have a fair idea as to what someone can do with them. Joey wasn't hurt during the fight and he showed he is of championship timber. Give him a half dozen more fights and he may be more famous than now." Dunn told the writer.

"Yes, Jimmie," said Johnny Kilbane who was in the party. "You know I was only 22 when I won the championship. I fought 46 fights. Goodman has boxed 40 times and he sure looked good. He is going somewhere." The information from the man who held the featherweight championship for 17 years was worthwhile. "Just wait a few more fights, Johnny," said Dunn "then see where Goodman is sitting."

Red Jadabird Has Been Around World

Many fans who have not been keeping track of Red Jadabird have recently asked: "Where has Jadabird gone?" Here's the answer:
He left Jamestown, N. Y., and travelled almost around the world. Not only did he box in his former native land Sweden but his travels carried him to Spain where he also milled with the gloves.

Jadabird was quite a card until Henry Firpo came to town and now that George Perotta has started a comeback Red has renewed hopes of once again putting his name as a winner before fans.

Washington Junior High Annexes Fourteenth Victory Of Year; Score 26-24

George Washington junior high basketball team hung up the 14th victory of the year on Wednesday night at the Washington floor, when they downed the East Brook high team by a score of 26 to 24.

The end of the first half found the Washington team ahead, 14 to 9. The East Brook team looked better in the second half and made things quite interesting for the Gillespie coached team, but class told, and so the Washington boys held a two-point margin.

The East Brook team gave a fine exhibition of foul goal tossing, making 12 out of 17 attempts, while Washington only made four out of 12. Reiber and Rung carried off high scoring honors.
Friday night at the Washington high floor the junior high boys will seek their 15th victory when they tangle with Princeton High.

Ruth was signed immediately for the contest. According to Gus Sanzere the newspapers divided on the outcome of the Williams-Ruth bout and as a result of the controversy one judge resigned his position.

Ruth, according to pugilistic records rates higher than Williams and has fought Eddie Shea, Earl Mastro, Bud Taylor, Johnny Datto, Joey Medill, Freddie Miller, Cecil Payne, Lou Bloom, Joey Sangor, and last year the Derby eve show at Louisville with Mastro.

Williams will not be able to box for some time.

Titans Face Hard Game With Covenanters Friday

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa. Feb. 6.—Worn by the Thiel and Bethany minister basketball team faces another tough assignment Friday night when Ken Loeffler's Geneva tossers are met at the New Brighton high school gym. Had Geneva won out over Duquesne Tuesday night, the tri-state conference situation would be better as far as the Titans are concerned. As matters now stand, Duquesne is tied with Westminster for the league lead with three victories and one defeat. More than this, Westminster had plenty of trouble defeating Geneva by a meager two points earlier in the season, and Loeffler's crew will not be in the best mood tomorrow night after dropping one to the Ducks.

Followers of the Westminster team claim that Geneva has the best offense and the best defense of any team played this season. In Friedman, Montgomery, Ransom, Manning, and the other lads on the Covenanter team, Loeffler has one of the strongest teams in the section, and one which will uphold the championship honors of the Beaver Falls team. Westminster has not won a basketball game at Geneva for so many

Syrian Princess Attracts Crowd

Princess Rahma Hainer, In Attractive Native Costume, Gives Splendid Lecture

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—Princess Rahma Hainer, Syrian princess here for three days at the Presbyterian church, opened her repertoire last night with a lecture entitled "Under Syrian Stars". She appeared in picturesque and elaborate native costumes customary to a Syrian woman of high rank. Her tunic was loose flowing and caught at the shoulders to form long flowing sleeves, bright colors predominating in the entire costume. On her head she wore a tiara of golden coins and lovely jewels, heirlooms of centuries, adorned her arms and throat. The princess possesses a very attractive personality, physically and mentally, and held the interest of all in her descriptions of the customs, habits, climate and general appearance of her native land, Syria. She related the fact that within a few hours one may leave the sweltering tropical heat and ascend into freezing weather in the mountain regions.

She concluded her interesting lecture with a native duet number which included her assistant, Miss Lucille Burgess, who was also in native costume. Tonight the princess will give a dramatic presentation of the old Bible story of "Naaman the Leper". She will assume all characters of the play with the exception of the Jewish girl, which will be portrayed by Miss Burgess.

RITTICISMS

When Primo Carnera goes back to that dear Italy, which may not be soon enough, he ought to weigh 50 pounds less. He will have laughed himself into shapeliness.

Primo doesn't giggle very often because when he parts his pearls in a guffaw the Los Angeles might mistake him for a hanger and fly in.

But Primo just can't help having his current chortles. He hasn't had so much fun since he last looked into a mirror.

The simple peasant of the Pyrenees has discovered our big cities are a few skyscrapers entirely surrounded by Yokels.

The Reubens of New York and Chicago have donated Primo approximately $35,000 for less than two minutes of plain and fancy arm waving.

By the time Primo has worked himself up into a perspiration he will be ripe for a merger with the Wall Street Morgans.

If Primo will chain his chuckles long enough we'd like to give him a slice of red hot advice. Stay away from that Sharkey man. He's the end of an everlasting perfect day.

Ha, ha, ha! Eet ees a great cuntry, Primo, is no? Just an Italian home boy taking our two biggest towns for a ride, eh, Primo?

Boy, give me laughing room! Venice was never like this!

Everyone of those 12,500 bowlers entered in the big Cleveland alley scramble will be hot after pin money.

Carnera Is Raking In About $15,000 Per Week

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The next time Primo Carnera fights in Chicago, it will be with Otto Von Porat; the next time he fights in New York it will be with either Victorio Campolo or George Godfrey.

So said the handlers of the huge hombre today as he and they prepared to pluck another pansy over in Newark tonight, namely Cowboy Billy Owens, so called because the only range he ever rode is in the kitchen. They, the handlers, wished to intimidate Primo, who is becoming irked by America's lack of fighting men and pines for gory action but privately I am assured that he plans three or more of these "appearances" before consenting to permit himself to become involved in anything savoring of an altercation.

As to that, the man would be a chump if he did otherwise. For as a get-rich-quick enterprise, he has Wallingford fit to be tethered. $15,000 Each Week.

He is averaging $15,000 a week by doing nothing constantly and the life of Reilly is a bed of cut glass, by comparison.

Here are some of the figures on his racket: Average daily receipts at Stillman's gymnasium here of which he cuts fifty percent $1,100. Total for four days of training in Chicago, $1,600.

Union-Bessemer Tangle Friday

Coach Boyd Prepares Union High Passers For League Leaders Tomorrow Night

Coach Boyd of Union High is busy today priming his Union High basketball team for their game Friday night, with Bessemer High on the Union floor. The girls teams of both schools will play the preliminary game which starts at 7:45 o'clock.

The Bessemer team is leading the County League with but one defeat, having dropped to New Wilmington by a single point. It will be a big feather in the caps of the Union boys to take the measure of the Bessemerites.

Earlier in the year the Bessemer team easily defeated Union in a game played on the Bessemer floor, and for this reason the Union High passers are anxious to even things up. Coach Boyd will have a much stronger team to face the Bessemer team with this trip.

Not once in the history of relationship between Bessemer and Union, has the Scotland Lane team taken a floor victory over the Bessemer team, and this is another incentive.

Gersons To Play For Championship

Tonight at nine o'clock the Jewellers will play the B. M. D. Club, Jewish League champs, for the leadership of the league. Both teams are undefeated to date, and a victory will mean the first championship.

The Gersons expect to hurl their small but terrific five-man offense into action, coupled with that impermeable defense that has been so outstanding in the local Church League.

The game will be played in the Anshe Ameth Temple of Youngstown, on Elm street, and as this is the feature game of the year, plans are under way to accommodate a crowd of five hundred. Nearly 50 local rooters are expected to accompany the Gerson Jewellers to Youngstown.

Coach Van Fossan has been grooming his men all year for this particular game and expects to throw his strongest line-up into action. The morale of the local boys is very high and a victory is anticipated.

Tentative line-ups:—B. M. D.

E. Solomon F. Osterman
Rogovin F. Knable
S. Levin C. Feur

Smiths Five Trim Hornets Team 28-23

The fast stepping Smith five basketball team won its ninth victory of the season on Wednesday night when it defeated the strong Hornets five team on the Carnegie auditorium floor by a 28-23 count. The game was close and hard fought.

The summary: Smiths 28 Hornets 23
F. Bongivengo F. Shaffie
Nigro F. Mentzer
Zona C. Brown
Barlett G. Delanzo
Vanneman Vanneman

Subs: DeMuccio and V. Bongivengo for Smiths.
Field goals: Shaffie 5, F. Bongivengo 3, Nigro 2, Delanzo 3, Zona 3, De Muccio 2, Mentzer, Barlett and Mastern.

Fouls—Smith 4 out of 9, Hornets 5 out of 7.

Allegheny Wins Over Waynesburg

Allegheny won its second victory of the season over Waynesburg last night at Meadville, 39 to 17. After the two floor teams had fought to a 3-3 deadlock Allegheny pulled away and led 14-7 at the half. Dennis, the field goals in the second half was the main factor in Allegheny's victory.

Four Chicago hotels bidding for his patronage while there.

Total of purses for two fights, lasting all told 1 minute and 57 seconds, $35,000.

Probable purse in Newark tonight, $10,000.

High Pressure.

So, like the old circus which played its towns on the hole-in-one system because it never hoped to come back, Primo is giving the boys a lot of high-pressure business as long as they will stand for it, after which it looks as though the poor fellow will have to go to work.

They told Chicago, for instance, that they would be back to fight Von Porat, but forgot to say when. They have been equally vague about their intentions toward Campolo or Godfrey here and I guess this is all right, at that, for the affair is strictly a shot for the great outdoors, where a man can fall with some degree of safety.

In fact, I'm not so sure that the whole program isn't all right, so long as everybody thinks it is. The boys don't have to attend. On the contrary, they can stay away in a very marked manner and nothing can be done about it. The constitution is quite specific on this point.

As for the Newark enterprise this evening, it has been set for 10 o'clock, proving that the promoters are men of vision or something. They will need plenty of vision if they see anything after the third round.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Favorite Stocks Go To High Price Level

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—With the strong probability of a cut in the discount rate of the New York Reserve bank this afternoon, Wall Street proceeded to mark up prices of the favorite stocks in the early trading today. A good deal of the "discounting" of this favorable news had already been done, and traders moved rather cautiously in the early trading. With a turnover of 611,000 shares in the first half-hour, the ticker lagged 13 minutes at the end of that period.

New reports from industrial centers substantiated the reported improvements in strategic lines, and emphasized the increase of employment all along the line. Cotton opened a dollar a bale lower and wheat lost nearly 2 cents a bushel in Chicago and New York. Reactions in the commodity markets were disturbing to the bullish interests in the stock market, which attribute the hesitation in many departments of domestic business to the losses in commodity prices. Stock prices as bulletined from the

Old Time Crowds At Stock Exchange

Interest In Stocks Grows As Business Conditions Show Improvement

Reviving interest in stocks is evidenced by increasing crowds at the offices of the local stock exchange rooms in the Union Trust building.

Following the crash last fall crowds became noticeably smaller, but since the first of the year there has been a revival of interest that approaches the old time crowds.

Visitors to the stock exchange now find all seats occupied during the sessions with many standing on the side lines. Some of the old faces are missing, but their places have been taken by others. While the crowds are composed largely of men, not a few women are again taking an active interest in the market.

During the past few weeks the market has been gradually picking up, not only in the number of shares changing hands daily, but in prices. Many of the leading stocks have increased over ten points and some of them as high as 25 points during the past few weeks. There are still some stocks selling at low figures, but taking the quotations as a whole there are very few stocks that are selling at the low points reached in November.

United States Steel has been strong since the recent favorable statement and the announcement that mills are running at around 80 per cent of capacity. Bethlehem, Republic and other steels have also been giving a good account of themselves. Public Utilities, copper and motors have also shown decided improvement during the past few weeks. While it is not expected that the recovery will be rapid, it is generally believed that the business outlook is gradually improving, and that higher prices for stocks are in store.

Woman's Ministry Will Be Discussed

Dr. W. E. McClure Will Speak On Woman's Place In The Church Sunday Evening

Sabbath evening at the First Presbyterian church, the pastor, Dr. Walter E. McClure, will discuss the question of "Women's Ministry". The Presbyterian church is this year voting on two overtures that have to do with woman's standing in the church. If these overtures are passed women may be elected to the eldership and they may also be ordained to preach.

The Presbyterian church has never, up to this time, ordained women to the eldership. Will this be a wise move now is before the denomination. The vote is taken thus far in the presbytery is very close.

The sermon will deal chiefly with those Bible verses that refer to women's place in the church.

Mrs. Ivah Taylor Claims That
Wm. Feinburg Car Was Operated Against Light

Mrs. Ivah V. Taylor and W. J. Taylor, her husband, have filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against William Feinburg, in which $20,000 is asked for injuries sustained as a result of an automobile accident on Madison avenue.

Mrs. Taylor says that she was proceeding west on Madison avenue in her husband's car, driven by Mabel Slump. The light was against her at Liberty street and she stopped. After the light had changed Mabel started to drive the car across the intersection and was struck by the car of Feinburg. Mrs. Taylor received severe injuries as a result of the collision. It is claimed that Feinburg was reckless in operating his car against the light and that the accident was due to his recklessness.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things
Around New Castle

My friend the Street Car Conductor was just a trifle peeved this morning. Ordinarily he reflects the sun and if there isn't any sun he just reflects it any way. But this morning things were different. Seems as though someone has slipped a penny in the fare box instead of a token or a dime.

"Sort of makes me sore" he confessed as he stopped to load a couple of students. "There are women on this run who get on the car and try to distract your attention by smiling at you, while at the same time they slip a penny into the fare box. Nice respectable ladies who would probably tell the truth even to a Census Taker, but who seem to think that the street car company is fair game and an open season all the time."

"It doesn't hurt anybody much" said he, "except the person who does it. The company probably won't go broke because of the difference between a token and one cent now and then, and if they slip it by me they still have their own conscience to elude."

Some folks are like that. They probably read with horror, the account of some election scandal where Joe Doaks was paid three dollars to vote for some candidate, and they are the type who will sit down and indite long letters to city editors, viewing with alarm the tendency of city officials to set curbing so close to the sidewalk. But their own personal pecuniations seem to bother them not at all.

The cactus came, customers. Fresh from the deserts of Arizona, from the country that has been dry since the day after the flood receded, two of the queerest looking specimens you ever saw. Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Perry remembered their promise, and not only brought the cactus but put them in flower pots.

One of them looks like a casaba melon that got hit with a nice fresh bird nest and then froze, or say it resembles a hairbrush that had a miss spent youth. Round and round the center of the plant are entwined tough trailers, with long sharp spikes sticking out. This one is a barrel cactus and I'd hate to have to go home in that kind of a barrel.

The other one is a pin cushion cactus, and not a pin has been removed. This one looks something like an overgrown frankfurter that forgot to shave and whose whiskers petrified. Queer looking, but interesting, and the fact that Mrs. Perry dug both of them out of the desert herself, only adds to their worth.

They came in handy as a birthday present for it was on this day a few years ago (oh quite a few) that the neighbors came in and remarked what a lovely baby he was. What their private opinion was makes no difference. Anyhow this is the day and Tom Cunningham and I are thinking seriously of forming a lodge of February sixthers.

This man Stan Treser seems to be taking his work seriously. This snow of yesterday afternoon put the streets in super elegant shape for skidding, but before dark last night the hills were asked. And the residents of East Long avenue, than whom there are no whomers, want to thank Dr. Treser for his thoughtfulness and remembering that East Long avenue is still in the city. A nasty bit of a hill when you try to negotiate it on such a night.

Seems like those of us who were in Juarez, Mexico, a couple of weeks ago got out before the shooting started in Mexico. As an inaugural gift, some clown shot the new president in the jaw which is no place to shoot a public official. And had we stayed in Juarez a while who knows what might have happened?

As it was we nearly got tossed into the garrison for endeavoring to inspect the Mexican army (all three of them) which was on duty at the time.

Some weeks ago there was some talk about the Leigh Portland office team bowling the Carnegie Steel team. Large threats were bruited about, and talks of a feed were whispered. Now it seems that the match isn't going to materialize, unless something is done. Down at the steel mill the boys want to know if the cement men are afraid of them.

They have a new trinket down at the steel mill, an indoor golf course. Some of the bigger and better golfers like Jess Preston and Bob Thompson seem to think that with a winter's practice on the indoor course that they will be all set to make a sucker out of Bobby Jones next summer.

Russ Melvin isn't so sure that he can beat Jones, but mentioned casually that he thought he could give Densmore Shute or Horton Smith a nice run for their money.

Rev. Wm. G. Davis Speaker At Mission

Opening Of Missionary Convention At Alliance Tabernacle Filled With Interest

Rev. William G. Davis, in opening the annual missionary convention at the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, Wednesday evening, gave out some interesting information regarding the natural resources of China, the undeveloped wealth of the country and the industrial situation there.

He dwelt upon the political situation, giving a word picture of the unsettled conditions, revolutions and counter revolutions. He pointed out how the native Christians were persecuted through it all and how many of them were like the early church martyrs. The condition of the church for a period resembled that of the church during the time of Nero. Public meetings had to be given up and worship was carried on by groups of two or three meeting at such times as were convenient.

He pointed out that Christianity has always thrived when persecuted and that the case in China was no exception.

A good audience listened thoughtfully to his address. Prayer meeting will be conducted Friday morning from 10 to 11 o'clock and this evening the entire party of speakers will be present. The young people of the church will give a special musical number this evening. The audience was entertained last evening by selections on the musical saw by W. H. C. Matthews. The convention will close Sunday evening.

Will Fix Date For Execution Of Negro

MOONSVILLE, W. Va., Feb. 6.—For the first time in the history of the state penitentiary a man under sentence of death walked from the institution alive, but only to hear the time set for his execution.

George Saunders, 29-year-old Logan county negro, was sentenced to hang October 30, 1928, following his conviction in July that year of having killed Dennis Smith at Lundale, W. Va. The case was appealed to the supreme court and in November, 1929 the higher court sustained the order of the lower court.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH TROOP

The First Christian church Boy Scout Troop No. 15 held its regular weekly meeting Tuesday at the First Christian church. Scoutmaster Sidney Smith and his assistants Glenn Montgomery and Oscar Patton were in charge of the meeting.

The meeting was opened by repeating the allegiance to the flag and the scout oath. Inspection was made by Assistant Scoutmaster Patton. Good turns were given and dues collected. Games were played which included "Steal the Bacon". Instructions and demonstrations were given in first aid. A new contest was announced. Plans were made to start a troop museum. Interesting talks on badges, fourteen mile hike, fire by flint and steel and second class fire building were given by Junior Phares, Robert Ray, Joseph Proctor and Herman Kilchen.

The pair of moccasins, which Mr. Mackey offered for the best pole made by a Scout in the troop, for the Troop's Indian tepee, was given to Alfred Hill.

All members of the troop are requested to meet at the First Christian church at 7 o'clock Sunday evening to go in a body to the Highland U. P. church where a special service will be held for Boy Scouts. All scouts of Troop No. 15 wishing to go on a hike Saturday should get in touch with Ralph Montgomery or Raymond Bennett.

All members of the troop are requested to pay their registration fees as soon as possible, so the troop may receive its new charter. The meeting was closed by Rev. G. S. Bennett, leading in prayer. The scout law was repeated and the troop was dismissed.

Scribe, Herbert Rodgers.

Young Man Hurt, Refuses Details

STUEBENVILLE, O., Feb. 6.—Emerson Earlewine, 23, of Wheeling, W.

Ya, is in the hospital here today seriously injured, but refusing to answer questions as to how he was hurt.

Two unidentified men brought Earlewine to the hospital but told nothing. A wrecked automobile bearing two sets of West Virginia license plates was found on the highway near here today. It had evidently plunged over an embankment, but Earlewine refused to connect himself with it.

Earlewine suffered two broken legs and internal injuries.

Grease soaks right off

Dishes almost wash themselves

CHINA, glassware, pots, pans—all wash lots easier when you use Rinso. The grease goes like magic! All you need to do is rinse in hot water. . . and the dishes dry bright and clear without wiping.

Rinso is economical, too. One spoonful gives more suds than two spoonfuls of lightweight soaps, even in hardest water, because it's granulated and compact. No grit, either! Millions of women use Rinso for the weekly wash. It soaks clothes whiter than they can be scrubbed. Great in washing machines, too.

Get the BIG handy household package of Rinso. Use it for the wash, for the dishes, and for all cleaning. You never saw such rich, lasting, active suds!
